

Nazi Target

After seven months' imprisonment, the Rev. Martin Niemöller, above, finally has been brought to trial before a secret Nazi court on five charges of illegally opposing government efforts to make the Evangelical church conform to totalitarian ideals. The army's support of the Rev. Niemöller, a World War hero, was believed an important factor in Chancellor Hitler's recent seizure of power over the military.

SEVEN "TVA'S" ARE SOUGHT BY SENATOR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—(UP)—Sen. George W. Norris, I, Neb., "father" of the Tennessee Valley Authority, prepared today to open a drive for his bill to establish seven little TVA's.

Norris said that he would ask the agriculture committee, before which the bill is pending, to consider the measure immediately after the senate passes the farm bill. Senate sentiment indicated another bitter debate when the measure reaches the floor.

The Norris bill, which was reported favorably by an agriculture subcommittee during the first session of congress, would divide the country into seven federal natural-resources-planning authorities with power to establish hydro-electric plants, flood control projects, irrigation works, reforestation programs, and other conservation projects.

To date the administration has not supported either the Norris bill or its rival, the Mansfield bill.

RIO HIT BY STORM; 15 DEAD MANY HURT

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 10.—(UP)—Fifteen persons were known dead today and at least 50 were injured in a severe electrical storm which struck last night.

A family of eight was killed when a house in the Rio Comprido district collapsed during a four hour deluge. Two were killed and many injured when several houses in the Tijuca district collapsed when struck by lightning.

Firemen worked throughout the night extricating people from collapsed buildings. Scores of families were left homeless.

Some streets were transformed into streams six feet deep by the torrential rain. Household furnishings were swept away. Basements and lower floors of many commercial houses in the downtown district were inundated.

CALLS MAE WEST'S SKIT "NOT SO BAD"

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 10.—(UP)—Mae West's "Adam and Eve" broadcast was described as "not as bad as it sounded" in the newspapers today by Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, president of National Broadcasting company.

Despite the hubbub, the skit provoked only 1400 letters—300 of them favorable to Miss West, he said. "The newspapers," he asserted, "merely took a few letters received in protest and built them into a nation-wide scandal. Sometimes the company receives 10,000 letters after a broadcast, so the 1400 were a drop in the bucket."

Estimate Storm Loss In Millions

COUNTY IS DELUGED BY HEAVY RAINS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—(UP)—A score of far west cities were strewn with wreckage today after a violent gale lashed the Pacific coast with 80-mile winds, killed five and injured dozens of persons. Property damage was estimated in the millions.

Buildings collapsed, whole communities were stripped of trees; power lines were destroyed and hundreds of families were left homeless when flimsy tents and cabins were carried away.

A new deluge of rain followed the windstorm, continuing the stormy weather that has beset the west coast for two weeks.

The destruction of crops and orchards was tremendous. Several towns were isolated by blocked roads and loss of telephone lines. Some were left in darkness when power service failed.

STEEL OFFICIAL RAPS NEW DEAL

DEL MONTE, Cal., Feb. 10.—(UP)—Tom M. Girdler, leader of the steel industry's independents, said today America is ready to move ahead "provided confidence is restored by permitting our industrial and economic systems to function free from harassments and oppressive control."

He charged one of the reasons for the present recession "is the growing attitude of the government that business is exclusively the vehicle of a few wealthy people and something separate and distinct from the public." He said "practically the entire public of the United States is engaged in business."

Defends Prices
He defended the present level of steel prices. He added that "high steel prices" have put the stop sign in the path of recovery.

Girdler, chairman of the Republic Steel corporation, was key speaker at the 14th annual conference of iron, steel and allied industries of the California State Chamber of Commerce.

Girdler is one of the government's severest critics and an uncompromising foe of the C.I.O.

DEMANDS FOR RATE INCREASE STUDIED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—(UP)—The interstate commerce commission, which is expected to decide before March 1 whether increased freight rates should be granted the nation's railroads, today began final study of demands of the carriers for a half billion dollars of additional revenue.

The $250,000,000 industry—the nation's largest—contended that a narrowing margin between revenues and operating expenses is squeezing the carrier system toward a financial precipice.

The roads seek a 15 per cent increase in freight rates to add $517,000,000 per year to income, and an increase in eastern territory passenger fares of one-half cent per mile to raise another $40,000,000.

Faith In Miracle Results In Death

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10.—(UP)—Police said Mrs. Elizabeth Miller set her gasoline-drenched clothing ablaze in the belief a miracle would save her.

Neighbors rolled the 45-year-old woman in a mud puddle when she ran screaming to the street. She was burned critically and died later in Emergency hospital.

Officers quoted her as explaining she wanted to suffer pain because "I have not expressed enough gratitude to the Lord."

U. S. Ships To Be Guests Of England

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlements, Feb. 10.—(UP)—The United States Cruisers Memphis, Milwaukee and Trenton are expected to anchor here Sunday as guests of Great Britain at the opening of the $10,000,000 Singapore naval base, 1500 miles from British Hong Kong and 3000 miles from Japan.

Maneuvers just ended provided the first big test of the intended impregnability of this "Gibraltar of the East." Monday the base proper, with its accompanying floating dock, will be formally inaugurated.

Welcome Guests
Three French warships and a Netherlands warship were lying off Singapore. But the principal interest was in the American ships, en-

SEWER PLANS ARE OPPOSED

Last night's joint outfall sewer board meeting at Anaheim resolved itself into a "petty wrangle" as Anaheim suggested a new plan for solution of the collapsed line maintenance and Santa Ana sought to divert attention to her most recent proposal, upkeep of Section 1 by Santa Ana and rental of the section to other sewer district members.

Fullerton and Anaheim both declared they would not rent space in a concrete line, type favored by Santa Ana, as they favored vitrified clay pipe. Anaheim further stated she did not wish to rent portions of any section.

Anaheim last night suggested that Santa Ana be ignored unless she desires to rent space from Anaheim and that Anaheim construct a line paralleling the present Section 1 line. Space rental would be $1250 per million gallons, Anaheim officials said. Santa Ana, represented by Councilman Joe Smith and Auditor Lloyd Banks, took exception to "this high cost of renting."

Anaheim's plan further included a granting of all requests for withdrawal from the sewer district, the cities of Orange and La Habra already having permission to withdraw. Buena Park also is considering request for withdrawal permission.

"FIRE BUG" JAILED AFTER CONFESSION

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—(UP)—John Wade, 26, blaming a lust for flames for the death of his mother, brother and sister in a fire two years ago, confessed today, police announced, to having started 50 more fires during the past two years, one of which killed three persons.

Wade's arrest followed investigation of a complaint by his married sister, Mrs. Edna Keane, who reported a mysterious fire in her home after Wade and her husband, Michael, quarreled.

Police said that Wade readily admitted having started the blaze, and then confessed having set 49 others in crowded residential sections of Brooklyn.

"When I'm drunk, I get into a fight and always get licked. Then I start fires to get even," Wade said.

Wade's mother, Elizabeth, 54, died in the flames when her home was destroyed in September, 1935. His brother, Hugh, 32, and a sister, Elizabeth, 22, died of burns several days later.

Patient Burglar Waits for Judge

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 10.—(UP)—For more than half an hour Rudolph De Mara, 19, sat patiently in the deserted, and silent courtroom of Superior Judge Arthur L. Mundo here, awaiting arraignment on burglary charges.

In another wing of the courtroom Superior Judge Lloyd Griffin meanwhile, was issuing a bench warrant for De Mara.

Finally jurors and a clerk came into the room where De Mara sat. After asking when his "turn will come" De Mara was sent posthaste to Judge Griffin, where he pleaded guilty after explaining:

"I couldn't find my way around these halls."
He will be given a probation hearing Feb. 23.

DEATH REVEALS SECRET OF FORMER BERKELEY STUDENT

BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 10.—(UP)—The secret of Virginia Carlyle, 27-year-old University of California graduate whose beauty and popularity earned her the title of campus queen in 1932, can be told today. She died Tuesday.

For two years she had known she was soon to die of Lukemia, an incurable blood disease. No one but her family and physician were told.

She lived the last two years in apparent happiness. She went to dances and parties, and led a normal life in every respect but one—she never let a young man get "serious." Today her suitors understood why. She didn't want an engagement "broker" by her death.

Funeral services were held today at the home of her parents, Miss Carlyle, who was a frequent visitor in Santa Ana, and for years had spent her summers at Balboa, was a cousin of J. Wylie Carlyle, deputy in the Orange county recorder's office. She is also survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary Carlyle Keith of Berkeley, her aunt, Mrs. Virginia Patterson of Westminster, and an uncle, James Metzgar of Santa Ana.

CHANGES IN COMMAND RECALL NAVY CONQUEST OF THE AIR

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 10.—(UP)—Pioneers of the navy's conquest of the air, and heroes of the service's first attempted mass, trans-oceanic flight today were slated as principals in a shift of command aboard the nation's largest aircraft carriers.

Capt. John H. Towers, rated as No. 1 aviator in the navy, will be relieved of command of the U. S. S. Saratoga in June by Capt. Albert C. Read, assistant chief of the bureau of aeronautics.

It was in May, 1919, that Capt. Towers, then a junior officer, hopped off from New York with a squadron of NC-type planes under his command, on a trans-Atlantic flight, via the Azores. At the controls of one of those planes was Read, also a junior officer and Capt. P. N. L. Bellinger, now a captain and chief-of-staff to Vice Admiral E. J. King, commander of the aircraft battle force, piloted the third.

Over an unchartered course, beset by fog, rain and high winds the cumbersome but flimsy craft flew. Bellinger's plane was forced down, as were its sister ships, and capsized. An opportunely passing freighter rescued the crew. Towers, using not more than a "Turkey" sail succeeded in reaching the Azores after facing starvation and death from thirst.

Capt. Towers has completed more years of air service than any other living man. Before he went to the bridge of the Saratoga last June Capt. Towers was chief-of-staff to Vice Admiral Frederick J. Horne, then commander of the aircraft battle force.

No new assignment has been announced for Capt. Towers, or Capt. Leigh Noyes who will be relieved on the Saratoga's sister ship, Lexington, at the same time, by Capt. John H. Hoover.

ENGLAND READY TO JOIN PEACE MOVE

LONDON, Feb. 10.—(UP)—Great Britain agrees with the United States that she is ready at any time to join other nations in a general effort to limit or reduce armaments, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the house of commons today.

Chamberlain replied to a question by Arthur Henderson, Laborite. He said he had seen press reports of Secretary Cordell Hull's statement that while the United States is compelled, in a world in which increasing armaments are a regrettable fact, to make adequate military and naval establishments, the United States is ready at any time to join other nations in a common effort to bring about limitation or general reduction of armaments.

"I can assure the honorable member that these are also the views of his majesty's government," Chamberlain said.

FACES MURDER TRIAL

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 10.—(UP)—Defense and state attorneys began selection of a jury today to try S. W. Siewert, ranch worker, on murder charges in the death of Robert McMan, Gold Hill, Ore., farm laborer.

McMan was killed last Dec. 17 on a ranch near Chandler in a fight over ownership of a bottle of wine, the prosecution charged.

Careful Analysis Of Cause Of Difficultie

The Register, in today's issue, is publishing a carefully analyzed address made by Merle Thorpe, Editor of The Nation's Business, made before the New York Chamber of Commerce.

The article is long but it is on such a timely subject and so carefully presents political and economic ideas which prevail in this country for over a century and under which great progress was made, that it is deemed worthy of the space.

It has been the contention of the publisher of The Register that if the people have an opportunity to get sound presentations, it will tend to keep us out of pitfalls. The trouble is most voters get condensed reports and, thus, seldom have an

Capone Aids Sought In Gang Battle

CHICAGO HEIGHTS, Ill., Feb. 10.—(UP)—State's attorney's police searched among the remnants of Scarface Al Capone's gang, powerful during the prohibition heyday, in an attempt to track down three gunmen who used gangland's "handshake" technique to rob out Sam Costello, reputed head of a lucrative slot machine racket.

The executioners, disguised in hunting attire, invaded a Chicago Heights bakery yesterday and, with flourish reminiscent of the St. Valentine's Day massacre in Chicago nine years ago, killed Costello and wounded three of his associates. The victim was a brother of Charles Costello, described by investigators as the "Capone of Chicago Heights."

FAMED EDITOR HAS BIRTHDAY

EMPORIA, Kans., Feb. 10.—(UP)—William Allen White viewed life at 70 today, and admitted that his greatest fear was not of death, but of senility.

The publisher of the Emporia Gazette philosophized on a succession of events which transformed him from a stern conservative into an open-minded liberal after he was 50 years old.

"In my youth I believed that this was a perfect world and that any attempt to change it was wicked and futile," he said. "Most men are radical when they are young, but I wasn't. I've grown a lot in recent years, I think. It's a reversal of the customary ways and I can't explain it entirely."

Cites Reasons

Partially responsible for his wide viewpoint, he believes, has been the change in the structure of government since the World War, and of the trend in recent years, to help the little man. This trend, he said, probably would cause no cataclysmic changes in the future of the United States.

"We have too large a middle class, capable of choosing and following an intelligent leader in crises. But we've got to learn to accept new things and realize that they are necessary. We must realize that the American workers have a right to organize and the right to bargain collectively which carries with it the implied right to work."

ICEBREAKERS RUSH TO AID SCIENTISTS

MOSCOW, Feb. 10.—(UP)—Two icebreakers today approached four Russian scientists isolated on an ice floe off the Greenland coast.

A 54-hour silence was broken when the scientists reported by radio at noon yesterday that they were all well. Their position was 72.06 north latitude, 19.33 west longitude, in sight of the east coast of Greenland. The temperature was 3.2 degrees above zero and there was an 11-mile wind.

REPORT VOLUNTEERS AIDING CHINA ARMY

PEIPING, China, Feb. 10.—(UP)—A Japanese spokesman reported today that on the basis of an investigation by an unnamed foreign power there were at least 646 foreign volunteers serving with Chinese forces at the end of 1937.

In addition, there were 200 naturalized Chinese, he said. The foreigners included 153 Americans, 17 of them Negroes, 152 Britons, 124 Frenchmen and 315 Soviet Russians.

One Russian and one Frenchman were killed and one American was wounded, the spokesman said. Ninety per cent of the volunteers were said to be aviators who had been promised a bonus of between $5,000 and $10,000 for each Japanese airplane shot down.

Where's Tarzan?

It was fun for all—look at the happy laugh—when Actor Rowland Leigh planted a fond farewell kiss on the cheek of Lupe Velez, as shown above, when they arrived in New York, where Lupe is to appear in a play. Torrid Lupe's spouse, "Tarzan" Johnny Weissmuller, was nowhere about when this picture was snapped.

Mrs. James was born in Coos county, Oregon, where her father had settled after crossing the plains in a covered wagon in 1852.

Past noble grand of Westminster Rebekah lodge and member of the Women's club of Santa Ana, Mrs. James will long be remembered for great devotion to private charity in the community.

Surviving her are one son, William R. James, Santa Ana; one daughter, Mrs. Frank Wharton, Laguna Beach; one grandson, James Wharton, Laguna Beach; three sisters, Mrs. Iowa Smith, Gardner, Ore.; Mrs. Fannie Smith, Marshfield, Ore., and Mrs. Flora Turner, Greenfield, Calif.

Funeral services will be announced later by Brown and Wagner mortuary.

FOUND STENOGRAPHER IS GUILTY OF THEFT

Mrs. Bertha Zinn, stenographer formerly employed by the Anaheim law firm of McFadden and Holden, was convicted yesterday by a jury in department two, superior court, of grand theft of $235 of funds belonging to her employers. Mrs. Zinn will appear at 10 a. m. tomorrow before Presiding Judge James L. Allen for sentencing.

According to testimony introduced during the trial the money stolen by Mrs. Zinn represented collections and bank deposits that had been entrusted to the woman.

Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe, for the prosecution, and R. M. Crookshank, for the defense completed their arguments yesterday morning and the jury retired at 11:02 a. m., returning with a verdict at 2:30 p. m. Shortly before returning the verdict the jury asked for a repetition of the court's instructions defining grand theft.

3 MILLION LOSE JOBS IN 3 MONTHS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today estimated 3,000,000 persons have lost their jobs in the past three months and asked congress for $250,000,000 additional work relief funds to be spent between now and June 30.

The president's request, contained in a letter to Speaker of the House William B. Bankhead, would increase relief expenditures for the fiscal year to a total of $2,000,000,000 and lift the prospective deficit from $1,038,100,000 to $1,338,100,000.

Would Afford Relief

Mr. Roosevelt said the new WPA funds would enable the administration to continue the present 1,550,000 persons on WPA rolls and afford "a reasonable measure of relief for those who have recently become unemployed and are in

WEST TO HAVE DAY IN COURT

With official circles speculating on the question whether an outside judge would be called in to try the case, Supervisor N. E. West, of Laguna Beach, today was preparing to answer, tomorrow, an accusation by the county grand jury, charging him with four counts of misconduct in office, and demanding his removal.

West is scheduled to appear before Superior Judge H. G. Ames, inasmuch as Judge Ames has charge of the 1937 grand jury. The date was fixed by District Attorney W. F. Menton when he served notice upon West of the grand jury's accusation, charging that the supervisor, on two occasions, solicited money in exchange for official favors; that he encouraged communistic elements to resist law and order; and that he impaired governmental efficiency by making unfounded charges against other county officials.

Except that he had signified his intention of pleading not guilty and fighting the grand jury charges, Supervisor West had not disclosed his defense plans. He claims he has not retained counsel, and hints at handling his own defense.

If local judges should disqualify themselves from hearing the case, the state judicial council would be called upon to assign a judge from another county to preside over the trial, which will be held before a jury.

PLEA FOR PAROLE DENIED MURDERER

John A. McClure, now 68, who murdered his sweetheart, Myrtle Wood, in a strange suicide pact eight years ago, in Orange county, today was denied his application for parole from San Quentin, where he is serving a life sentence.

McClure slew the woman behind a bill-board on the night of June 16, 1929. As they ended their farewell embrace, he fired a 32-calibre revolver bullet through her head, then walked away, leaving her body there. He went into Mexico, and, according to his story later to the authorities, shot himself three times in an attempt to kill himself. He returned to this country and was arrested, relatives of the woman having, meanwhile, found her body.

On June 22 he was arraigned before Superior Judge James L. Allen on a first-degree murder charge filed by District Attorney Z. B. West jr. McClure pleaded guilty and was immediately sentenced to life.

He was among 15 San Quentin convicts refused parole today by the state board of prison paroles.

Southern Solon To Play Yankee Roll

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 10.—(UP)—The youngest member of the Texas state legislature braved his constituents' wrath today by signing to play the motion picture role of a Yankee carpet bagger.

He is J. Manley Head, aged 28, who got into film acting unexpectedly, via the route of a technical advisor for a picture dealing with his big state. The film is "The Texan," advertised as a saga of the Lone Star state. It started out to be called "Marching Herds" but the title has been changed.

UNIONISTS WIN IRISH ELECTION

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Feb. 10.—(UP)—Unofficial forecasts of the result of yesterday's general election said today that the Unionist party had returned to parliament the majority of its members. The party is opposed to any union with Southern Ireland.

It appeared that the composition of the new Northern Ireland parliament, with Unionist representatives predominating, would be much the same as that dissolved on Jan. 18.

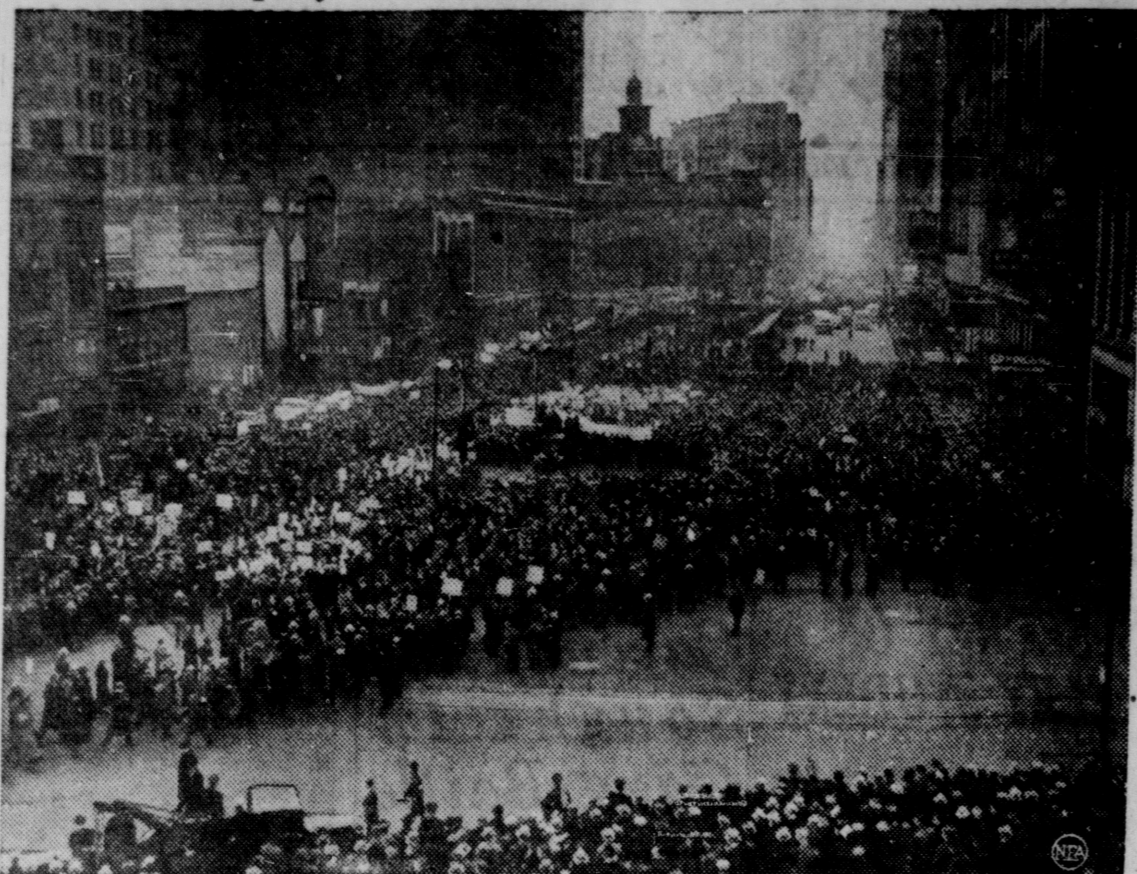

Parliament Dissolved

The previous body was dissolved by proclamation of Governor Lord Abercorn after Prime Minister Lord Craigavon ordered a general election hoping to prove that the voters of Ulster would register their disapproval of Eamon De Valera's suggestion that the states of Northern and Southern Ireland be joined by returning to parliament members opposed to union.

The old parliament had 37 Unionists; nine Nationalists; two Independent Unionists; two Laborites; one Republican; one Fianna Fail.

The voters elected only 31 of the 52 members yesterday as the 21 others automatically were returned unopposed in the primary. Fourteen of those previously returned are Unionists, six Nationalists and one Laborite.

As Unemployed Thousands Marched In Detroit

While mayors of the larger midwestern cities met in Chicago seeking additional federal relief funds, this great crowd of unemployed auto workers and sympathizers jammed historic Cadillac Square in downtown Detroit, as shown above, shouting for relief and additional WPA work. Led by bands and ranks of unemployed singing "Solidarity Forever," the crowd, estimated at more than 100,000, packed a wide street three blocks long. Twenty-five hundred police stationed in the downtown area encountered little disorder among the demonstrators.

PAIR FOUND GUILTY IN OLD FRAUD CASE

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 10.—(UP)—Archie C. and Jesse H. Shreve, San Diego, Cal., real estate men, stood convicted of 11 counts of mail fraud today, while their counsel announced notice of appeal would be filed immediately.

A federal court jury convicted the brothers of all 11 counts of mail fraud contained in an indictment returned several years ago. It was their third trial.

Federal Judge Dave W. Ling fixed Feb. 21 as date for sentencing them. Maximum penalty is five years imprisonment and $5,000 fine on each count. The court may order the sentences served consecutively or concurrently.

The original indictment also contained a conspiracy charge, but this was dismissed before the trial began.

MEAT PRICE SLUMP BLAMED ON STRIKE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 10.—(UP)—Producers of meat animals in the southwest, alarmed by a sharp decline in the consumption of meat which they blamed on a housewives' strike, today started an educational campaign to show that steaks were available at prices as much as 50 per cent lower than last fall.

Several hundred stockmen, packers, butchers, retailers, and others reviewed the situation last night at a mass meeting called by Frederic Olander, president of the Kansas City Livestock Exchange.

Olander said that meat prices had dropped so sharply since summer, when housewives started a boycott because of "war time costs" that now every beef steer brought to market was being sold at a loss of $25 to $50 to the feeder.

STEEL OFFICIAL IN RAP AT NEW DEAL

Talking to 200 assembled steel and business leaders, Girdler listed other reasons for the recession as:

Attack Policies

The government's "ceaseless attack on business," heavy and punitive taxes, spreading labor disturbances, rising manufacturing costs and over-heavy accumulation of inventories.

These factors, he said, "combine to cloud the future in uncertainty."

"As we stand near midway in February," he added, "Industry shows some improvement and there are signs of further gains with the approach of spring. But many uncertainties still exist."

He passed over as an "isolated instance" yesterday's reduction in the price of cold sheets of $4 a ton.

Criticizes Roosevelt

Girdler attacked propaganda for steel price reductions. He took issue with President Roosevelt who two weeks ago said prices must come down but that wages must be maintained.

"Steel prices," he said, "must be adequate to enable my company to pay good wages, to keep its plants in good repair and up to date, and to earn a fair return upon the capital invested in the business. Wages and prices are inseparably linked."

It would not long be possible for any steel company to maintain prices on a lower level while preventing wages remain unchanged. If industry were to be forced to pay wages it cannot afford, the whole industrial system would surely break down."

ORANGE COUNTY IS DELUGED BY RAINS

Trains were stalled and radio stations cancelled programs for lack of power.

The state capitol at Sacramento was damaged. More than a score were injured there and police broadcast a warning to all persons to keep off the streets during the height of the wind yesterday.

Great waves swept in from the sea and ships were pounded against their moorings.

Terrific Wind

The storm extended along three-fourths of the California coastline, from Los Angeles to Eureka. The worst of the storm passed inland toward the Sierra Nevada mountains yesterday afternoon, but high winds and a heavy sea continued all night.

In San Francisco, the wind reached 78 miles an hour at the edge of the city and a 55-mile wind swept the business district, ripping off roofs and dislodging trees.

SANTA ANA GETS OVERNIGHT OF RAIN

Torrential rains yesterday added more than an inch of rain to the season's total within a period of a few hours. In Santa Ana a total of 1.29 inches fell during the past 24 hours with the major portion of the precipitation falling between 10 a. m. and 1 p. m.

The heaviest rain was at Placentia where 2.61 inches fell during the past 24 hours. Yorba Linda, while receiving only 1.61 inches during the past 24 hours was almost flooded when 1.45 inches fell yesterday between 11 a. m. and 1 p. m.

While the general weather forecast is for unsettled weather with occasional showers tonight and tomorrow, clearing skies in Orange county indicated that few, if any more showers would fall in this area. The lightest rainfall was recorded at San Juan Capistrano where .62 of an inch fell during the past 24 hours.

The cast includes Sallie Amour, Mary Morris, David Paul, Jo Shanks, Richard Nolan, John Evans, W. M. Smith, Ruth Daniels, Llewellyn Lissack, Ben Hagger, and others to be added.

Special scenery for the "future" setting of the play is being designed and constructed by Donald Williamson. The play, by Reginald Lawrence and S. K. Lauren, depicts the difficulties besetting a pacifist desiring to keep out of war, the time, place, and action all being projected into the future. Direction is under Marjorie Williamson.

Harbor Masons To Form Association

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 10.—Men of the harbor district interested in joining the Newport Harbor Masonic association have been invited to attend a meeting the evening of February 17 at the Bay Shore cafe. The building located at 15th street and Central avenue will serve as a Masonic temple.

400 JOIN IN NIGHT SERVICE

More than 400 persons attended the first of a series of annual Church Night services held last night in First Methodist church. Dr. Carl Summer Knopf, dean of the School of Religion at University of Southern California, leader of the series, spoke at the general assembly.

Dr. Knopf's theme for the series of meetings is "They Knew the Answers." Last night he talked on the subject "We Face Some Problems."

Missionary Speaks

Following the general assembly the audience broke up into small study groups. One group, designated as World Travelers was addressed by the Rev. E. Pearce Hayes, district missionary of the Foochow, China, Conference.

Other group speakers and their topics were: Mrs. Merritt White, "Book Land;" Mrs. Jennie Tessen, "Great Personalities and the Development of Christian Thought;" Mrs. Helen McArthur, "Content and Value of the New Testament;" Halstead McCormick, director of music for the church, "Music Through the Ages;" Harold Kiech, conducted a class in woodcraft.

Mrs. Leonora Tompkins was in charge of the assembly for children held at the same time the adults were holding their assembly.

SEWER PROPOSAL GETS OPPOSITION

would be $100,000 for paralleling section 1, at the ocean end of the line, this figure to be reduced $35,000 if Orange should be allowed to withdraw.

"The plan would cost Anaheim more money but would solve the problem," Leo Sheridan, Anaheim, said.

"But all members of the district must be responsible for paying their share of the joint outfall venture and cannot withdraw unless they wish to continue paying in connection with the joint venture," Smith said.

Santa Ana Proposal

Santa Ana's proposal would call for rental of section 1 to other members at rate of $7.50 per million gallons, without option to buy and exclusive of carrying charges. Anaheim and Fullerton wished option to buy.

Smith flung the charge that Anaheim wished to "freeze out" Santa Ana. Sheridan acknowledged it with the explanation that Anaheim would not rent. Grover Walters, Fullerton, in an effort at reconciliation, asked Smith to carry back to his council, two proposals, one made by Anaheim last night, and a previously suggested one through construction of 55 per cent of the line of vitrified pipe and 45 per cent of concrete, the proponents of each material taking responsibility for their share.

Smith submitted an outline of Santa Ana's proposal. "The charge will be determined by two factors," he said. "An annual charge of five per cent, pro-rated, on the total new capital outlay required to reconstruct and or repair the sewer line in Section 1, would be made, and a charge of $7.50 per million gallons of sewage sent through the rented line."

Today, the controversy over the joint outfall sewer line is right back where it started two years ago, officials said.

FDR ASKS MILLIONS FOR RELIEF WORK

The president's estimate of a 3,000,000 boost in jobless rolls due to business recession was his first authoritative statement of the effects of the economic setback on the nation's employment situation.

Mr. Roosevelt asked that restrictions on work relief spending be revised to allow the Works Progress Administration to spend the new funds over the remaining months of the fiscal year.

"According to the best estimate available at this time," Mr. Roosevelt advised Bankhead, "it appears that during the past three months approximately 3,000,000 persons have lost their jobs with private employers."

Unforeseen Increase

"This increase in unemployment could not, of course, have been foreseen at the time the last relief appropriation was under consideration."

"Hundreds of thousands of needy unemployed persons have recently applied for relief work which could not be provided for them with the funds on hand."

"It has become increasingly clear that these needs cannot be met unless employment by the Works Progress Administration is increased immediately."

No Change in Financing

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., said there would be no change in the treasury's financing plans between now and March 15 as a result of President Roosevelt's request for additional relief funds.

The financing program, for the present, provides for the borrowing of $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 through weekly bill offerings of $50,000,000 each. These offerings will begin Feb. 28.

WPA officials estimated that the additional appropriation would enable them to carry between 800,000 and 900,000 more persons on their rolls than possible with previously available funds.

It was believed that the appropriation is voted—WPA might add as many as 1,250,000 to its rolls in March, in hope that pick up in business and private employment would enable substantial reductions in April, May and June which would average out the total.

WPA estimated that the approximate cost of maintaining one individual on WPA for one month is $65. Thus the $250,000,000 would allow about 3,840,000 months of WPA jobs. Averaged over the approximate four and a half months of the fiscal year remaining this would allow WPA rolls to be maintained at a level of 850,000 jobs above what was contemplated.

If 1,250,000 should be added in March, WPA rolls would reach a peak of more than 3,000,000.

CHANGE PLAY DATE

OCEANVIEW, Feb. 10.—The date of the P. T. A. benefit play, "Philip For Short," has been changed to Friday evening, February 25, due to the Huntington Beach high school play February 18. One change has also been made in the cast, Mrs. Wormelsdorf taking the part originally assigned to Mrs. Eva Beem, who on account of illness in the family will be unable to continue with it.

ONE-MAN STRIKE

OTTAWA, Kans., Feb. 10.—(UP)—Last week Robert Marks, 25, lost his job on a relief project because the bosses said, he wouldn't work, and that he interfered with others who would. He promptly started a one-man sit-down strike in the headquarters of the county relief office. He did not make his demands clear, but said he would remain until they met. He has a wife and baby.

WINS $405 JUDGMENT

Mrs. Flora Grever, who sued her divorced husband, George W. Grever, Vista avocado grower, for $20,000 back alimony, today was awarded judgment by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel for $4405.58. At the same time, the court reduced a former alimony order of $170 per month, for five children, to $100 per month, since only two of the children now receive support.

CLUB TOLD OF GERMAN MARK

ORANGE, Feb. 10.—John Brown Mason of Santa Ana was the speaker Wednesday at a meeting of the Lions club at the American Legion clubhouse. Martell Thompson presided in the place of Ray Arguello, who was absent. Alvin Drumm was program chairman.

Mason discussed "German Inflation After the World War," telling of the causes which led to it and the steps which were taken to establish a set value for the mark.

Following the inflation of the mark, the value changed almost momentarily, said the speaker, and workers rushed to stores to purchase goods as soon as they were paid in order to get the value of their wages. Goods so purchased were often traded for other things, Mason pointed out, as the purchased articles had a more stable value than money. Money often was printed on any kind of paper and on one side of the note, Mason said.

The period of fluctuating currency was brought to end when the government placed a fixed value on the mark in December, 1923, and while there was no gold behind the certificates, the real property of the whole country is behind it, it was said.

Plans were made for the meeting of the Orange County Council of Lions at the American Legion clubhouse Tuesday at 7 p. m. Roy Day, of Pomona, district governor, will be guest of honor.

MENDENHALL TALK WINS IN CONTEST

W. O. Mendenhall was awarded first place in the speaking contest at the weekly meeting of Smedley Chapter No. 1, Toastmasters International, for his talk on "Who is an Adult?" last night at Danigers cafe.

Second place in the judging went to Jack Snuffin for his rendition of a humorous satire on prison reform which he entitled "Happy and Contented."

Other speakers on the program were: Harry Pink, Sam Long, H. O. Ensign, and Dr. Ronald E. Buell. Dr. J. P. Davis acted as toastmaster with Walter Ferris in charge of criticism.

FLORAL DISPLAYS SOUGHT FOR SHOW

Nearly 10 letters to women's clubs throughout Southern California, urging their participation in San Bernardino's annual flower show, have been mailed by the women's division of the floral committee, W. H. Taylor, general chairman, said yesterday.

Mr. Taylor will call his committee into session today at 10 a. m. in the ecommision room at the city hall to hear reports of all sub-committees arranging the flower show, to be held in conjunction with the National Orange Show this year.

Mr. G. Max Webster is chairman of the women's division which mailed the letters of invitation. These went to the garden sections of women's clubs throughout the southern counties, and urged each to enter a floral display in the show.

LAGUNA ELECTED ASSOCIATION HEAD

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 10.—George Lafayette of the studios bearing his name at 2089 Coast boulevard was elected chairman of the 1938 board of directors of the Coast Art and Gift association, at a recent meeting in San Francisco.

The association, representing and controlling the output of some 600 factories in the United States, specializes in artware, pottery, chinaware, glassware and lamps. The Lafayette studio in Laguna Beach is one of the city's largest industries, shipping its products virtually all over the world.

Kicking Against Silks Society

Washington saw its biggest "leg show" of the year when 300 Philadelphia hosiery workers marched up Constitution avenue swinging silks, as shown here, to protest a Japanese silk boycott sponsored by the capital's society strata. While the debutantes held a "Life Without Silk" fashion show, the hosiery workers took their case to the White House. They pointed out that a boycott on Japan could close 150,000 jobs, since nearly all silk stockings are made in United States.

CAPONE AIDS ARE SOUGHT BY POLICE

When Sam died he wore a diamond studded belt buckle, the type Capone used to give his close friends.

State's Atty. Thomas J. Courtney took quick action to prevent development of a new gang war. At St. James hospital, where the wounded were treated, 18 swarthy, grim men gathered in a corridor last night, apparently fearful the killers would return to finish their job. They were driven out by Lieut. Thomas Kelly and his aides.

Kelly believed that they sensed, and were prepared to ward off, another attack. Courtney ordered a heavy police guard stationed at the hospital.

Investigate Rackets

Police viewed the slot machine, gambling and illicit alcohol rackets as a possible motive for the assassination. Courtney charged recently that former members of Capone's mob still conducted those businesses in Cook county, but investigators doubted the outbreak was connected directly with Capone, who is now seriously ill in Alcatraz prison, or that it resulted from division of his personal "interests."

Lieut. Kelly said, however, that some of the principals in the case had been allied with the once powerful Capone forces and said he was tracing suspects at one time identified as Capone henchmen.

route from Sydney, Australia, and it was suggested that they might remain here for two weeks or longer—sufficient, as it is said here, to make it obvious that they were welcome guests.

Though Monday's opening is purely formal, some significance attaches to it. It marks the official completion of 10 years of work by thousands of coolies, who have converted this island off the Malay Peninsula from a snake and crocodile infested swamp-jungle into a 20th century fortress which brings the might of the British navy some thousands of miles toward the Far East.

Naval Completed

Giant naval guns, the new floating dock big enough to hold a 50,000-ton ship; airports; enormous stores of fuel safe underground; great repair shops—everything, in fact, needed not only to defend the base but to supply a fleet which, in war time, could be used presumably only against Japan—were ready at last.

All these facilities will be displayed to officers of the three American cruisers due here Sunday. Extensive plans have been made to entertain the crews and the Singapore municipality and the colonial government have appropriated special funds.

CITY EMPLOYEES NAME LEADERS

Election of directors and standing committees and the adoption of the constitution and by-laws were the high lights of the second special meeting of the City Employees' association at the city hall council chamber rooms last night. Directors elected to office last night were Harry Crowe, B. A. Hershey, Wilbur Pippa, Ralph Miller and William Secrest. Standing committees voted upon were, sickness and distress, membership, entertainment, reception, auditing and publicity.

William Garvin, newly elected president of the organization, announced that appointments to the various committees would be announced at the next regular meeting March 3.

Objects of the organization as outlined by Garvin are, providing a medium of exchange of ideas and expression among the city employees; promotion of harmony and business and social acquaintance; creation of a friendly spirit between the citizens of the city and the employees and to improve the welfare of city employees.

VERDICT GIVEN IN SUIT OVER CRASH

Returning its verdict late yesterday, a jury in department three, superior court, awarded Mrs. Lupe Avila judgment for $50 and her two and one half year old grandson, Fernando Andong Jr., $450 for injuries received Sept. 22, last, in an automobile crash at Bristol and Edinger streets, Santa Ana. Judgment was against Mrs. Clifford McIlvain, also of Santa Ana.

At the same time, the claims of Fernando Andong sr., and his wife Mrs. Virginia Andong, were denied. In denying the claims of Andong, and his wife the jury charged that there was negligence on the part of Mrs. Andong and Mrs. McIlvain, who were driving the two automobiles involved in the crash.

In the same verdict, Mrs. McIlvain was given judgment for costs of the suit involving Andong and his wife. Andong's son was awarded judgment for costs against Mrs. McIlvain but his grandmother was denied costs as the judgment awarded her was under $200.

The court granted petition of Mrs. McIlvain for a 10-day stay of execution indicating the possibility of an appeal. Mrs. Avila had sued for $2550. Fernando Andong Jr. had asked for $10,000; his father for $800 for medical care for his son and Mrs. Andong had sued for $2500.

MAHLUM SOON TO FACE CHECK COUNT

One charge against W. M. Mahlum, returned here from Yakima, Wash., recently, was dismissed by Justice Kenneth Morrison today for lack of sufficient evidence, but he was held on a second charge, issuance of a fictitious check in Newport Beach.

The second charge will be aired in the same court, soon. The first charge, grand theft, filed on complaint of D. B. Wright, Costa Mesa, was outgrowth of an automobile deal between Wright and Mahlum, then a car salesman. The judge believed there was possible civil liability on Mahlum's part.

According to Wright, Wright agreed to trade his two cars in for a new one. He said he paid Mahlum $100 cash and gave him both cars but Mahlum disappeared after selling the cars. Atty. Leo Friis is defending Mahlum, Deputy District Atty. Robert Gardner, handling the prosecution.

WATER BOARD REOPENS FIGHT ON GUN CLUBS

Directors of the Orange County Water District meeting yesterday reopened warfare against gun clubs operating in this county when they ratified action discussed last week at a special meeting of board members.

Action ratified yesterday calls upon the Orange County Water Commission, headed by D. R. Gardner of Orange, to complete its study of water used by gun clubs. This action will be followed by a request to the board of supervisors for repeal of the county licensing law under which the clubs are permitted to operate by payment of $25 annually.

The water commission was appointed more than two years ago to make a complete study of water usage in the county. It was following submission of the first report by this group that the supervisors repealed the anti-waste ordinance and adopted the present measure that permits the gun clubs to operate and draw water from the underground basin to flood duck ponds.

In deciding to request the commission to complete its study directors of the water district named April 1 as the date for a report on that commission's findings.

Cite Court Ruling

The water district always has been opposed to the operation of duck clubs on the ground that the organizations deplete the underground basin, using the water for the purpose of flooding duck ponds.

The county's anti-waste ordinance, prohibiting use of water for any purpose other than beneficial has been upheld by the state supreme court which ruled that the flooding of duck ponds is not beneficial use of water.

Heavenward Ho The Steeple

The task of elevating this church in Denver was not altogether spiritual—as this striking photo indicates. To erect its graceful 160-foot steeple, workmen first assembled the spire on the ground and then hoisted it into place by complicated derrick maneuvers. In the background of the church glimmers the dome of the Colorado State Capitol.

ASSISTANCE LEAGUE ENDOWS BED AT S. A. VALLEY HOSPITAL

Endowment of maternity bed at the Santa Ana Valley Hospital was announced today by officers of the Assistance League of Santa Ana.

Officers of the league said they selected the Santa Ana Valley hospital for their newest project because they felt that this hospital has been identified with Santa Ana's progress. They said the hospital has long been one of the city's leading institutions and was financed by citizens of the community and sponsored by many prominent doctors.

Modern Equipment
A committee named to investigate hospitals reported, it was said, that the Santa Ana Valley hospital has the most modern and scientific laboratory and surgical equipment.

The recently endowed bed is to provide hospitalization for prospective mothers who cannot afford to pay hospital fees and are not eligible for county aid. The bed is in a four-room ward on the west side of the hospital. The baby is kept in a crib in the glass-enclosed, sound-proof nursery.

Unit of State Group
A birth certificate is provided and bears the mother's thumb print as well as the foot print of the baby.

The Assistance League of Santa Ana is an organization of 40 women banded together for the purpose of alleviating suffering in the city. The organization is a unit of the Assistance League of Southern California.

FLOOD WATER APPEAL HEARD

Appeal from a justice court verdict in Myron D. Clay's damage suit against the City of Placentia for damages allegedly done his two rooming houses by flood waters, is being heard today by Presiding Judge James L. Allen in department two, superior court.

Clay is suing the city for $551.50 plus continuing damage at the rate of $40 monthly from March 1, 1937, alleging that the flood of Feb. 6 and 7, 1937 filled the basement of his two rooming houses on the north side of Santa Fe avenue, and left two feet of mud and water on the first floor of both buildings. He also alleges that the water destroyed equipment stored in the basement of the two buildings. Because of the flood waters, Clay alleges, he has been forced to keep his two establishments closed.

Asserts Culvert Choked

Clay charged that in 1934 the City of Placentia raised the grade of Santa Fe avenue six feet across the front of his property which is located in a swale. A 30-inch culvert was installed to handle drainage but this culvert became choked with concrete blocks and debris. Condition of the culvert was called to attention of city officials in December 1936. Clay claimed but no action was taken to remove the debris.

The suit was originally filed in superior court and later transferred to the Santa Ana Justice Court because the amount sued for was less than $1000.00. On Oct. 25, 1937 Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison decided the action in favor of the defendant city and awarded judgment for $920 as costs.

Clay is represented by Attorney Harry Warton of Anaheim and Thomas McFadden, city attorney for Placentia is representing the city.

HARPERS' 'FIND' COMES FROM PEN OF NOTED TUSTIN AUTHORS

Harpers' spring "find" of 1938—"Enchanted Vagabonds" by Dana and Virginia Lamb of Tustin, is expected to be ready for public perusal by May 4, it was announced today simultaneously with the news that young couple's book is considered by the publishers, as their find of the season.

Added interest was given this announcement when it was recalled that Harpers' find for early 1937 was "Son of Han," a book on China by Richard La Pierre, Stanford University professor who is a brother and son of Mrs. Frederick Elliott and Mrs. Ella June La Pierre of this city.

Each year Harpers selects two of its books as the outstanding publications of the year. It was just yesterday that Mr. and Mrs. Lamb received word that the story of their experiences on the Cocos Islands and along the South American coast had been given this high rating. Trade magazines will carry the news this month, it was said.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamb plan to leave tomorrow for the desert for a weekend stay in advance of a program which they will present before the Indio Lions club next Tuesday.

Lamb was speaker yesterday at Hollywood Authors' club, whose president is Rupert Hughes. The local adventurer and writer was given the opportunity to become affiliated with the group.

The bus was proceeding north and making a left turn to go west on Fruit, when the bus-car accident occurred. Officers Charles Neer and Chet Gross reported.

At Sixth and Broadway, a car driven by Mrs. T. E. McLeod, Santa Ana, and one driven by an unidentified motorist, collided, the McLeod car then striking a light pole. As C. F. WATER DISTRICT BUYS PROPERTIES

Directors of the Orange County Water District yesterday purchased two parcels of land for extension of the district's water spreading activities in the Santa Ana river.

One tract, 49 acres, extending for 6000 feet between the Anaheim-Olive road bridge and the Jefferson street bridge, was purchased from Robert Mize for $1175. The second tract, consisting of seven and one-half acres, north of the Jefferson street bridge, also was purchased from Mize for $150.

A. W. Rutan, attorney for the district, reported that he had filed a protest on a water rights claim in Hagadore canyon. The district will investigate for the purpose of determining whether or not the claim involves water from the Orange county supply.

HE SEES WHO BUYS WHAT TOBACCO

Like so many other independent experts, Bill Whitley, Tobacco Auctioneer of Henderson, N. C., smokes Luckies

WILLIAM D. (BILL) WHITLEY sold over 15 million pounds of tobacco last year. It's easy to see that he's an expert who knows tobacco.

So it's important to you when he says . . . "At 14 different markets in Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky, I've seen Luckies buy the best tobacco. I figure it's good tobacco that makes a good smoke. So my own cigarette is Lucky Strike!"

"I've noticed, too, that independent buyers, not connected with any cigarette manufacturer, smoke Luckies more than any other brand."

Mr. Whitley is correct. For sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all other cigarettes put together. Remember: The men who know tobacco best smoke Luckies 2 to 1.

HAVE YOU HEARD "THE CHANT OF THE TOBACCO AUCTIONEER" ON THE RADIO?

When you do, remember that Luckies use the finest tobacco. And also that the "Toasting" process removes certain harsh irritants found in all tobacco. So Luckies are kind to your throat.

MERLE THORPE SAYS NATION COMMITTING SUICIDE; GENERAL WELFARE IS BEING DEMOTED

An address made before the New York State Chamber of Commerce by Merle Thorpe, editor of the Nation's Business.

Mr. President and gentlemen, I am deeply sensible of the compliment implied in an invitation to address the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York.

I am very happy to be here today, for this Chamber is older than Washington. It is older than the Government itself. It goes back to the day when the first white folks on this Continent banded together to provide for the common defense and to promote the general welfare. Chambers of Commerce grew out of the town meeting idea, an exemplification of which I have seen here in the last half hour. We voluntarily enlist in joint effort in the United States—"joiners" the rest of the world calls us—to pursue an objective. Such groups experiment a great deal, but it is an effective and efficient way of getting things done, because if those experiments prove impractical, they are washed up. Unlike politicians, a group of business men has no inhibition against admitting its mistakes and moving on to something else.

Political agencies, when they aspire for more power, fear most these voluntary groups. The individual member of the Chamber of Commerce can make himself heard and felt through his association. Speaking alone he faces political discipline, to use a mild word. Politicians dub such groups "reactionary." But you and I know that they are only realists. Business would cause needless suffering to employee, consumer, and to the man and woman with savings, if it were not slow to accept untried theories on a large scale. So Chambers of Commerce like yours, exercising free speech, became the last line of an ordered democracy's defense, and, as such, they get no cheers from political opportunists.

Just now in the United States there is a tendency to discredit such business groups. It has become a habit for those in high authority to refer deprecatingly to them and to note political antagonism cropping out too frequently and without justification against business groups. Legislation is proposed in Washington today to license trade associations. Citizens should be advised and be on guard against unwittingly lending aid and comfort to the political forces which would disrupt and eventually destroy voluntary group action.

It is the fashion, I know, to accuse business men of lack of patriotism, but the record runs the other way, and you of all business men in the United States should know that. This Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York although it received its charter from the Crown was conducted entirely independently of government. It led the way in opposing the Stamp Act and the tax on tea; it followed James Otis against the Crown's practice of search and seizure, and it followed Sam Adams against the "erection of a multitude of offices and swarms of officials to harass our people and eat out their substance." It opposed all those political restrictions because it felt that they were born of whim and spite and caprice and tyranny of ruling powers. But the point is this: your Chamber, while protesting, remained loyal to the Crown because it was still the acknowledged authority. But it did not hesitate to criticize. And that goes for other early chambers of commerce in the United States. The Boston merchants opposed the British restrictions on trade and navigation, and they were later summoned to the very rooms where those resolutions were drawn up and made to testify before drunken courts set up by the British troops.

Such outspoken criticism by business groups has continued throughout the 150 years of our national life and attests the political freedom which has gone hand in hand with the economic freedom that such groups stand for. And today business men in similar fashion can remain loyal to the White House and to Congress and to our far-flung Federal Agencies and Authorities and yet feel it a duty as free men to offer their counsel and advice born of experience, on matters economic.

It is not pleasant to be gloomy. It is much more fun to be an optimist. But when we have had a scourge of grasshoppers ravaging the stores of the ants for seven years, some Cassandra or some Jeremiah must take this unpopular role.

Congressman Summers, from that great empire state mentioned by your Committee Chairman a moment ago, a Texas Democrat of good standing, old in this country's service, chairman of the Judiciary Committee of House, recently called upon citizens to join as he said, a "battalion of death" to preserve the Constitution and our economic system. And he spoke truly when he added that if the people cannot face facts, then there is no hope anyway.

And I may say in passing that because the Trojans kept Helen and admitted the wooden horse, disaster came as predicted by Cassandra. Also, it must be remembered that it didn't do any good to accuse Jeremiah of lack of patriotism, or of failing to cooperate with the administration; Jerusalem was destroyed as he advertised.

I think it was Owen Young who said that facts were the least developed of our natural resources. (Laughter and applause.)

To develop facts today is a disagreeable job because such study of facts forces us to the conclusion that unless we change our course America will witness a continuing decline in our standards of living. There will be less and less for the more and more; instead of the more abundant life we all pray for, we shall have the less abundant life. The facts prove conclusively that there is slight possibility of regaining the industrial stride which we once had.

A New Haven young man wrote me the other day in a rather belligerent mood, saying, "We do not propose ever to return to those days of Coolidge." Well, I replied, "You need not worry longer on that point; we never shall," because those days, to the people, believed in thrift, they believed with Calvin Coolidge that simply because something ought to be done was no reason that the Federal Government should do it. We believed in those days that economic laws were discovered, not made. We believed that when economic freedom went, there would go with it inevitably, our political freedom. We believed in the old-fashioned-copy-book maxims, two and two are four, and that water wets, and that fire burns, that what goes up must come down, that you can't have your cake and eat it. And because of those beliefs of the people, in the period from 1900 to 1930, we voluntarily gave out of our earnings to American enterprises three billion dollars a year to aid them in developing new industries. Today, in our new state-of-mind, we give one-tenth that, and that grudgingly, and the enterprises no longer grace our success magazines as captains of industry. They are in the doghouse. (Laughter.) And we give instead the difference between three billions and three hundred millions, by compulsion, to political spending.

I have lived and worked in Washington for twenty years. I am not an Old Dealer who wants to get back to eat the tenderloin, having been on chuck steak now for five years. Nor am I a New Dealer who has tasted, after a long period, the luscious tenderloin and who still remembers the lean potato dishes of 1930-32. My bread and butter comes from 300,000 business men, Democrats and Republicans and Socialists, who subscribe to my great moral monthly, and to my roll as His Majesty's opposition. So I can speak frankly and freely to you today.

This I have witnessed in Washington, this I have observed from the sidelines, the age-old struggle between two groups. It is age-old, because you can find it on every page and every part of history. It is a struggle between those who produce wealth and those who waste wealth. There is no need to bandy words, but to look at the facts squarely. Humanity is divided into those two groups. In this conflict, the favor of the masses alternately is thrown from one to the other. One is in the doghouse today and the other in the parlor; then the change comes. Just now this popular favor is with the spenders, and because of the mandate, spending is upon such a scale that the difference between the dictation of all students of government, from Plato to Spencer, is coming true: we are witnessing a preview to penury in the spectacle of democracy, as William Flinders Petrie puts it so succinctly, "of democracy eating itself up."

People are bewildered at what is going on in Washington and abroad. But the "tactics" of politics are easily understood if we understand the larger "strategy." The larger strategy of this struggle between these two groups—those who produce and those who spend. Politicians must constantly and continuously apply themselves to the task of discrediting the producers. It is necessary. Perhaps here is why there can be no cooperation between the two, however much we may wish it, because if business should accept every demand, from a to z, suggested by a political party, elephant or donkey, why, tomorrow politics must present another. It is the natural law.

Politicians have an advantage in this struggle because it is a vocation with them. With the producers it is an avocation, and their vocation is not platform speaking nor tract-writing, nor political organizing. It is producing.

So, for example, when we see great wealth wasted by war, politics quickly side-steps the realities of war by appealing to patriotism, and then when the war is over it charges the responsibility, which is theirs and solely theirs, to "business munitioneers." And again, when the political plans for the production of wealth and, therefore, employment and prosperity, fail, it is always because "business has failed to cooperate."

Political strategy is to keep business in the kitchen, a discredited Cinderella, so that politics may entertain in the parlor and feed its patronage and relatives in the dining room. (Laughter.) Politics wears a high hat and lays the cornerstone but it expects business in overalls to lay the bricks. In the many advertised plans of teamwork between the two, you will note that politics takes the front of the stage and the microphone, while, if one has good eyesight he may discern business behind the palms. (Laughter and applause.)

We hear a great deal about the distribution of wealth, and yet in Washington we have the highest per capita income in the city of any city in the world, and there is a bill now in Congress to raise the salaries of Federal employees, 117,000 of them in the District alone, and grant them a five-day week. And you may be interested to know that one out of five passengers on the railroad trains last year was a Federal employee; per cent of the total passenger revenue, $76,000,000, for the

"swarm of officials" riding our railroad trains.

That all political headlines, if you read them in the light of this greater strategy between producers and wasters become very clear. You can understand them when you apply the formula.

So to those with fortitude enough to face facts, the state of the nation is disturbing. America is fast dropping to the level of the other politics-ridden countries of the world, where one-third of the producers' income is taken for political purposes.

I shall deal exclusively with facts, and if I should veer away and express an opinion, disregard it and say "my opinion is just as good as this man speaking to us today." I shall submit eight facts in support of the thesis that we are witnessing today a tragedy of a great nation committing suicide, of a free people forging its own chains, and that we have changed to the Constitution to "demote the general welfare."

First fact. Business activity, for which we all pray, is brought about solely by the hope of improving one's well-being; in other words, by the despised "profit motive."

Second fact. Business activity is stimulated by a small group of men and women who have a peculiar and individual ability to encourage us to make these business exchanges, a particular quality that some High Authority gave to a certain group of men just as it gave to other groups of men to paint, to preach, to teach or to perform miracles in surgery.

May I for a minute or two discuss this fact, because our denial of this fact leads to one of the peculiar phenomena in our national psychosis today. When we read in the papers a year or so ago that Will Rogers had made a million dollar, did we rise up and say, "why, isn't that shocking!" Isn't that the most non-social thing we have in the United States! Think of the millions of the underprivileged, tired men and women who after their hard day of toil need to get a little relaxation and here Will Rogers takes twenty and thirty and forty cents away from them, and from their pennies makes a million dollars! Did we say that? No. We said, "good old Will Rogers, hope he makes two millions next year." And when we think of the Mayo brothers in Rochester, with an extraordinary ability in surgery, an ability denied to millions of us, do we envy and enviously hate the Mayo brothers? No. Do we envy the Sargent who can paint marvelous portraits. No. We admit he can do it better than we can do it. That doesn't make any difference. A Fritz Kreisler who plays the violin better than you or I, do we envy and penalize him? No. But a Walter Chrysler, ah, that is something else again. (Laughter.)

The man with the ability to dream a dream, and to organize, with the ability to bring together friends and acquaintances in teamwork, and with their savings to produce his brain-model and introduce it to the public to see if the people will live with it, he, today, is at a discount. Gone are the success magazines and the Captains of Industry. We are not ready to admit that there is an ability in business, so success must be penalized as something non-social. As a result we hear in Washington today one of the strangest doctrines of all—that the nation must bend every effort to restore the economic royalists of their blighting autocracy. And I submit that of all the people who have oppressed a free and vigorous people in a generation this is it.

Where do these royalists come from? How does economic royalty reproduce itself? Who are its Crown Princes? It is well to investigate. Where came this new captain of a great steel company last month? Born in a coal miner's hut. Where did economic autocracy go the other day to get the new president of a great packing company? An office boy thirty years ago. Where did a world-renowned Chicago store find its leader who died in November? In a college classroom.

From what economic loins sprang the presidents of our biggest railroads? More than 100 came up from the ranks of telegraphers, track-walkers, transit-carriers, clerks, from the humblest of positions.

So, for example, when we see great wealth wasted by war, politics quickly side-steps the realities of war by appealing to patriotism, and then when the war is over it charges the responsibility, which is theirs and solely theirs, to "business munitioneers." In the many advertised plans of teamwork between the two, you will note that politics takes the front of the stage and the microphone, while, if one has good eyesight he may discern business behind the palms. (Laughter and applause.)

We hear a great deal about the distribution of wealth, and yet in Washington we have the highest per capita income in the city of any city in the world, and there is a bill now in Congress to raise the salaries of Federal employees, 117,000 of them in the District alone, and grant them a five-day week. And you may be interested to know that one out of five passengers on the railroad trains last year was a Federal employee; per cent of the total passenger revenue, $76,000,000, for the swarm of officials" riding our railroad trains.

That all political headlines, if you read them in the light of this greater strategy between producers and wasters become very clear. You can understand them when you apply the formula.

So to those with fortitude enough to face facts, the state of the nation is disturbing. America is fast dropping to the level of the other politics-ridden countries of the world, where one-third of the producers' income is taken for political purposes.

I shall deal exclusively with facts, and if I should veer away and express an opinion, disregard it and say "my opinion is just as good as this man speaking to us today." I shall submit eight facts in support of the thesis that we are witnessing today a tragedy of a great nation committing suicide, of a free people forging its own chains, and that we have changed to the Constitution to "demote the general welfare."

First fact. Business activity, for which we all pray, is brought about solely by the hope of improving one's well-being; in other

BREA 'STORMY PETREL' LOSES TILT WITH LAW

Roscoe Parks, asserted "stormy petrel" of Brea, who, police said, recently threatened their lives with a loaded shotgun and unsuccessfully nailed doors and windows of his house shut to keep them out, lost another clash, with the law in Santa Ana justice court yesterday, officials reported.

Orange county, through Deputy District Atty. J. E. Walker, brought suit against Parks and his wife, Florence, charging they accepted $341.80 of county welfare department relief funds while they held at least $1000 which they had inherited. Judge Kenneth Morrison yesterday gave the county a judgment against the couple for $341.80. All but $100 of the sum has been returned to the county. The $100 will be collected from the Parks' inheritance.

Row With Landlady

In their first clash with the law, in Brea, the Parks' rented a house belonging to Mrs. Ida Pursley, Chief W. H. Williams reported, and failed to pay rent after living in it for about three weeks.

When Constable William Tremaine sought to serve a three-day order notice, he could not get the Parks' to answer the door, he said. Later, during the night, the Parks', according to police, nailed up all of the windows and doors, making so much noise, the neighborhood was disturbed.

Warrent Signed

Mrs. Pursley, living next door, after the Parks' assertedly refused to quit using the hammer, signed a disturbance of the peace warrant which Chief Williams and Constable Tremaine sought to serve.

Using a crowbar, with Mrs. Pursley's consent, the officers smashed the front door at the Parks place and entered.

Parks stood in a room, pointing a loaded shotgun at the officers, she said. Mrs. Parks persuaded her husband not to shoot, she said. Chief Williams reported the couple had about $900 in their home when arrested.

THE PULSE OF AN EMPIRE

If you could sit with the system operator at the control board in one of the Edison distributing stations, you would see the dials register the wide fluctuation in the demand for current.

Here are recorded not only the regular changes caused by fixed habits of people on their way to lunch, to theatres and homes, but scarcely an important event can fail to affect in some manner, the transmission of supply of electricity.

It is known almost instantly when people begin to alter their ways of working and living. When business and industry begin to expand or retrench, the change is indicated in the control room. The Edison System must be ready at all times to provide the essentials that such changes require—to meet the maximum demand at any given moment without endangering the margin of safety which dependable operation requires.

Since its beginning, the Edison Company has continuously provided the electrical power facilities needed for the development and prosperity of the Southwest Empire. Not only the quantity, but the character of service as well, has changed and developed as the requirements of this territory have increased.

The Edison "Company" includes not only 4000 employees and 108,000 stockholders, but 500,000 consumers—the consumers must be included because it is their needs the company exists to serve. It is this "Company" which has worked and will continue to work together both to supply the best of electric service and to further other developments which will make Central and Southern California a still better place in which to live and work.

$7,239 DAMAGE SUIT DENIED

In a decision rendered today, Superior Judge G. K. Scovel denied the $7,239 damage suit filed by O. F. Fowler, Santa Ana contractor, against Dr. J. J. Jacobs, Santa Ana dentist and property owner, involving dispute over interrupted plans for remodeling the Tony's cafe building on Bush street, owned by Dr. Jacobs.

Fowler claimed breach of agreement by Dr. Jacobs. The court, which heard the case January 26, today decided that no contract had been entered; that plans and specifications for the structure had not been approved by Dr. Jacobs and did not conform to the city building ordinance, so that no permit could be obtained. The court held further that the contractor had razed the old structure under an agreement to compensate himself from salvaged material. Dr. Jacobs was awarded costs of suit.

Arguments were being concluded this morning before a jury in department one, superior court in the $15,000 damage suit of J. I. Barber, 74, against Gernon Quatacker and Arthur M. Arroyo.

FINNS, CZECHS FAVOR BOYCOTT OF OLYMPICS

LONDON—(UP)—China's plea to other nations for a boycott of the 1940 Olympic Games in Japan fell on deaf ears in most European countries today. Only Finland and Czechoslovakia indicated sympathy with the movement.

In Helsinki, the United Press correspondent reported that general sentiment was for cancellation of the games although the Finnish Olympic committee had not yet discussed the situation. Dr. Josef Gruss, chairman of the Czech Olympic committee, said at Prague that his country probably would lend support. It is recalled that Finland waged an unsuccessful campaign for the 1940 games.

Finland has suggested that in the future the games be cancelled when the host nation is at war.

While few authoritative statements can be made before the meeting of the International Olympic committee in Cairo, Egypt, in March, Italian spokesmen saw no reason for boycotting the games since Italy enjoys cultural and athletic relations with Japan, and "especially since Italian athletes are forging ahead and expected to improve upon their 1936 showing in Berlin."

A leader in the British Olympic organization pointed out that "any boycott talk at present seems a little premature since not even been sent out yet." Japan probably will not send invitations until after the Cairo meeting.

FULLERTON—Baseball talent scouts are notoriously blind. They make a half a dozen blunders before they sign a promising athlete.

Everyone knows that Oscar Vitt, the new Cleveland loss, missed a chance of a life time when he passed up both Willard Hershberger and "Arky" Vaughan when a grizzled, old baseball bug took the high school kids in tow.

"They're too small," he said. Were they? A year after Vitt passed judgment on the kids, Vaughan was burning up the Western league at Wichita and Hershberger already was signed and sealed for the New York Yankees.

So impressed is Oscar by Hershberger, a half-pint catcher as big-league receivers go, that he made a special bid for his services at last fall's baseball moguls' meeting in Chicago. He was downcast when Cincinnati outbid him. Harry (Truck) Hannah admitted making a mistake last week when he came to Fullerton. He saw Del Jones—the kid who may be playing major league baseball in a couple of seasons.

"I guess we made a mistake, Del. We should have sent you to Ponca City," the tobacco-chewing Los Angeles pilot said. But Los Angeles' loss was Johnny Angelo's gain. Angelo signed the Placencia high school kid.

Los Angeles had first crack at Jones, but passed him up. The Angels have the first crack at Edon DeVolder, sensational Fullerton junior college southpaw from Ohio. Will they sign him? That is doubtful because he's too small. Baseball brains must be mighty dense—especially those of the ivory hummers. A little man is a good man, if he can produce. And some little men grow up into big ones.

Los Angeles almost broke Douglas Wheeler's heart after the kid made good in training camp. But they let him go. Since then he has caught on with another club and he may be playing major league ball in a couple of years in spite of himself.

He is temperamental and has the same physical make-up as "Dizzy" Dean. If his hitting—which isn't bad—improves and he learns to throw like a first baseman should, you'll be reading a lot about the lad from Huntsville, Ark., who started life by knocking squirrels off fence posts at fifty paces.

And if I don't miss my guess, he'll put "Arthur the Great" Shires and "Dizzy Dean" to shame.

Bob Spessard, No. 30, Washington and Lee's six-foot seven-inch candidate for All-America center, shows how he uses his height to advantage as he rears up for the ball in the General's game with Long Island University at Madison Square Garden. Despite the presence of Spessard, the Southerners lost, 35-32.

RETIREMENT OF YOST DUE IN TWO YEARS

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(UP)—Herbert Orin ("Fritz") Crisler of Princeton today became head coach of the University of Michigan, with a contract which eventually will make him successor to Fielding H. Yost, athletic director and "grand old man" of Wolverine football.

Crisler succeeds Harry Kipke, who was ousted from the coaching job last December by the athletic board of control. No action has been taken toward selecting Crisler's successor.

He becomes assistant athletic director with the understanding that he will assume Yost's job within three years.

Yost, who came to Michigan as head coach in 1901, is near the retirement age.

Dr. Alexander Ruthven, president of the university, said Crisler had the unanimous support of the board in control of athletics, the board of regents and himself.

Terms of the contract were not announced. A source close to the board indicated, however, that it was signed on a two-year basis with the understanding that it would be renewed providing Crisler turns in a satisfactory record.

This source said the maximum salary the board could pay for the combined jobs was $10,000, but there was no definite indication that this was the sum in Crisler's contract.

It was believed that most of the present coaching staff would remain under Crisler.

The most important post yet to be filled was that of head line coach, vacated last month when Hartley (Hunk) Anderson resigned to take a similar position with the University of Cincinnati.

Santa Anita's 'Handle' Drops On Leanest Day

ARCADIA — (UP) — A muddy track, or heavy at best, was in prospect today at Santa Anita Park following one of the leanest handles of the season when a small crowd spent only $376,896 yesterday.

Lloyd Pan, a recent winner, was unanimously favored for the mile $1500 Buena Park Handicap, the fifth race, for three-year-olds foaled in California. Campillo appeared an almost solid second choice, and The Flower was third. Others mentioned for part of the money were Rolling Ball and Deer Fly. All were considered able mudders.

SEVEN MORE S. C. GRIDDERS HONORED

LOS ANGELES—Varsity award winners for the University of Southern California 1937 football season have been increased from 21 to 25, it was announced today by Director of Athletics Willis O. Hunter, who revealed that the university's general athletic committee had added seven special awards to the original 21 whose playing time had automatically qualified them for "S. C." monograms.

Recipients of special awards were Ray Webba, guard; Tony Tonelli, center; Joe Shell, halfback; Alex Atanasoff, tackle; Bob Fisher, tackle; Roy Engle, fullback and Bob Reed, center. All but Reed closely approached the required playing time for the season. Reed had no game participation but the committee voted him a special award for his conscientious service as a reserve during the three years he was out for the team.

Hunting Boar No Bore

Wild boar hunting in the rugged interior of Santa Catalina island offers many a thrill for sportsmen. Note the bristly hair and long snout on this nice tusker and the proud smile on the face of the lucky hunter, Dr. Robert Kennedy of Hollywood. The boar is a young one and will make a tasty roast.

*intended advocating his proposed solution at Pimlico.

The New York tracks have been the locale for more qualifying horses than anywhere in America, but eastern horse players, more experienced in racing practices, are not as likely to be hurt financially by the practice as race-goers in California where the sport is comparatively new.

Santa Anita, because of its long season, and its famed $100,000 stake is particularly vulnerable to the practice. The big handicap annually attracts many "name" horses which are attempting comebacks, and when a horse is making his first start in many months, a trainer would not be breaking down his charge to give him a hard, bruising battle the first time out. Such an effort might knock the horse out for the season.

It is extremely difficult, and in many cases impossible, to bring a horse up to a championship effort on workouts alone. One race is worth half a dozen trials, and trainers, shooting for a $100,000 prize, can hardly be blamed in many cases for giving their horses an easy race the first time out in many months.

Comment on Mr. Vanderbilt's proposal has been widespread at the Santa Anita course, and in most cases favorable. Commissioner Russell said that he favored the proposal but that the details of the plan would have to be worked out carefully.

Judge Christopher Fitz Gerald, presiding steward at Santa Anita, said that he had no comment to make.

Judge Edmond Soule, director of racing at the new Inglewood track, said that he was heartily in favor of the proposal.

Anthony Pelletieri, one of America's ranking trainers, said that the plan would benefit both the racing public and the horsemen alike.

Two cases in point of horses given easy races occurred last winter in the early season performances of Rosemont and Fairy Hill, which raced far below their best notch, in the light of their subsequent victories in the $100,000 handicap and $50,000 derby.

Top Row went to post recently, making his first start in almost two years. No newspaper selector picked him first, many did not even have him in the money, yet the public flocked to his name to the tune of some $14,000. He was not unduly punished in the race and, as a consequence, the money wagered was burned up.

While there are numerous details of the plan to be worked out, and there shouldn't be an attempt made to stage numerous and sundry exhibition performances on the whim of a trainer, there is sound merit to Mr. Vanderbilt's proposal. It protects the public and the public pays the freight upon racing.

Like Halley's Comet I appear, On turfdom's startled sky—I'm handicapping's peerless peer, Comparison defy!

"I make a clean sweep of it," chuckled the noted maestro of the turf, "the biggest Biggie of the turf," he concluded modestly.

A check-up disclosed that this was indeed so, most conclusively being merely the consensus of all horse players everywhere. Hawkeye fans point proudly to his long and lustrous record as leading handicapper, bar none, and to the fact that Hawkeye horses always win, and aver that yesterday was merely another of those rare exceptions which but proves the rule when his astute play, Supremacy, failed to score.

OTTO GARDNER BACK

Perhaps this little item should be in other columns than sports but probably not because it concerns Otto Gardner, a doughy young man who will be remembered best for his exploits in football and track uniforms of both Santa Ana high school and junior college. That was back in the years from 1923-26, unless memory plays me false.

Lator Gardner migrated to Montana State college where he played on one of the nation's outstanding basketball teams, an ensemble that averaged around 60 points a game.

Now a senior pilot for Pan-American Grace Airways in South America, Aviator Gardner is back in Santa Ana for a two-months vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Gardner of Berrydale road. He has been affiliated with Pan-American seven years, flies regularly with mail and passengers from Buenos Aires (Argentina) to Santiago (Chile), a "beat" of some 850 miles.

Since the alarming number of air crashes in recent years has made many an American air-wary, Pilot Gardner's opinions are timely, newsworthy.

"I believe the number of tragedies could be greatly reduced if some of the air lines of this country would change their policy," says Gardner. "In South America, the pilot is allowed a good deal of leeway, he is master of his plane. He can fly or 'sit down' as he thinks best. But up here the ground personnel has the last word, and what it says goes. My opinion is that the man at the controls knows more about actual flying conditions than a man on the ground, although of course the ground personnel can give much valuable advice.

"Some of the American lines, goaded by competition, attempt to adhere too closely to a definite flying schedule, for I know that one tragedy that occurred near here was due to the pilot's determination to make up a few minutes of lost time so he wouldn't lose any prestige at headquarters by landing late. In South America, where few accidents occur, we have lots of latitude and the companies operate on the old theory that it's better to get there late than never."

"One of life's mysteries: How Santa Ana high's Bill Musick ever made the All-Southern field. Bill, who enrolled at U. California prep first string back-S. C. this week to put an end to reports that California, Oregon and Stanford had him bagged, didn't have any more drive than the St. Louis Browns at the finish of the season in the champion Saints' defeat by Poly. What's more, it appeared that he couldn't take it. Please note that the above paragraph is enclosed by quotation marks; it is the brainchild of Wilbur (Riverside Press) Fogleman; not mine.

Critic Fogleman is certainly entitled to his own opinion but I believe Fullback Musick will make him eat his words before he's through at Southern California.

ARMSTRONG FLOORS CITRANO 13 TIMES

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—Henry Armstrong, world's feather weight champion, scored 13 knock-downs over Al Citrino, of San Francisco, at Civic auditorium last night before the referee awarded the Negro the bout on a technical knockout.

Armstrong floored Citrino five times in the first round and the Italian was on his back as the bell sounded. In the second round Citrino was down three times and in the third twice. Citrino was down three times in the fourth when the fight was called.

Armstrong weighed 133 and Citrino 131. Since the fight was at overweight, Armstrong's title was not at stake.

LONDOS WINS FROM SZABO AT OLYMPIC

LOS ANGELES—(UP)—Jimmy Londos, claimant to the international heavyweight wrestling title, defeated Sandor Szabo of Hungary after 15 seconds of the second fall when a leg injury prevented Szabo from continuing last night. Londos won the first fall in one hour 33 seconds with his "Boston crab," Champion Dude Chick vs. Wild Red Berry, two out of three falls; Yukon Jake vs. "Pretty Boy" Ernie Piluso, two out of three falls; Marshall Carter vs. Felipe Romano, two out of three falls; Jimmy Goodrich vs. Smiling Steve Strelch, one fall.

"Wild Red" Berry, one of the more spectacular wrestlers among the junior heavyweights, and a former world light-heavyweight champion, may win his second world title tonight at the Orange County Athletic club.

Berry meets Cowboy Dude Chick from Little Horse Creek, Wyo., in a two-out-of-three fall, no-time limit match for the latter's junior heavyweight crown.

The title match tops an out-standing bill that marks the debut of "Bud" Levin as promoter at the O. C. A. C.

Given momentum by a change in ownership of the arena, and the establishment of permanent residence here by Promoter and Mrs. Levin, weather permitting, a near capacity crowd is expected. Rain or clear, however, the program will be held, with the first of the four bouts getting under way at 8:30.

Widely known for his spectacular performances in the past and generally regarded as one of Chick's most dangerous challengers, Berry is being picked to win by many smart followers of the sport because of his matches with the Black Dragon.

Promoter Levin, a bit inclined to believe something might happen, earlier this week signed a three-bout pact with Berry. Champion Chick also appears to be among those retaining doubts concerning the outcome. The champion refused to sign unless Berry agreed to give him a return match on or before 30 days.

Backing up his championship match, Promoter Levin has Felipe Romano, the undefeated Mexican champion, opposing Marshall Carter of Missouri and Yukon Jake, the colorful Alaska miner-grappler, meeting "Pretty Boy" Piluso in three-fall, 45-minute matches.

One of the leading favorites of the mat, "Smiling" Steve Strelch opens the show against Jimmy Goodrich.

ORANGE AND TUSTIN TO COLLIDE FEB. 18

Winner of the Orange-Tustin engagement will play the San Gabriel Valley league titleholder, probably Montebello.

S. E. GOLFERS PLAY IN GALE: 75 LOW SCORE

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—Charles Condon, young Tacoma professional, today led the winter golf brigade into the second qualifying round of the $5000 San Francisco match play open tournament.

Condon's 75 yesterday, played in the teeth of a hurricane that swept the bay region, set the pace while big names of the tournament were glad to break 80. There were only 15 scores in the seventies among the 170 starters, and there was 35 pickups.

Lawson Little, defending champion from San Francisco, was the only one to shade par for a nine. He started with a poor 42 but came blazing home in 34—one under par—to finish second to Condon with a 76.

Another stroke back at 77 were Jim DeMaret, Houston; Neil Christian, Yakima, Wash., and Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill. Also within striking distance of the pace were Johnny Perrell, Lake Tahoe, Calif.; Espinosa, San Francisco; Olin Dutra, Los Angeles, and Harold McSpaden, Winchester, Mass., all with 78s.

Thirty-two qualifiers start out at match play Friday and those with scores in the low eighties yesterday were conceded good chances of qualifying. Improved weather was predicted for the remainder of the tournament, but rain probably will prevail most of the week.

Match play will begin Friday with double-elimination 18-hole matches.

Competition ran true to form in the Y. M. C. A. Basketball league last night with all three favorites winning.

Irvine's unbeaten quintet won from the Penhall Brothers team of Westminster, 36 to 26. Montgomery Ward edged out the Barr Lumber company, 26 to 23. Treewest Products opened the triple-header by beating the Southern Counties Gas company, 34-23.

Winding up the sixth week of the second-half, Wilson's Dairy, first-half champions, mixes with Patterson's Dairy at 7:15 tonight and the Excelsior Creamery clashes with Al's Lock and Key Shop at 8:30.

Al's Lock and Key Shop is still in the running for the second-half flag, being tied with Wilson's Dairy and Irvine with five wins and no losses.

The PAYOFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)

Little Sixto Escobar transformed a cauliflower patch. Escobar was highly successful in his spurge for the natives until he bumped into tall Harry Jeffra of Baltimore.

Jeffra outboxed him in three non-title engagements and then lifted the wee brown boy's bantamweight championship in the Carnival of Champions at Yankee Stadium last September.

That was a sad night in San Juan, for Pedro Montanez, heavy-lightweight idol of the islands, also referee the San Juan match, and Hype Igoe, New York boxing writer, and Nat Fleisher, editor of a boxing magazine, flew south to act as judges. American officials are to be brought in this trip, too. Boxing in Puerto Rico is governed by a commission which operates on the rules laid down by the New York board.

Mike Jacobs is promoting the Jeffra-Escobar engagement, and his first lieutenant, Bill Farnsworth, is on the ground looking after the production, which is expected to gross $50,000.

With the "Hershey case" and a recent setback by Riverside still sticking in their craws, Joe Bonnet's Pomona jaysee Red Raiders strike for balm tonight against Coach Blanchard Beatty's Santa Ana jaysee Dons in Tustin high school's gymnasium.

It will be the Dons' fourth start in the Eastern conference, with game-time 8 o'clock.

Rated as a toss-up, the contest promises to be the best of the season. The Pomonans are a veteran team and are paced by Elwyn MacRae, one of the finest shots in the conference. Bob Reynolds, Jim McCullough, Bobby Booth and Basen are other veterans in the first string lineup.

The Dons, on the other hand, will have not more than one let-terms in their starting lineup. Charles (Chuck) Hall, Ted DeVelbiss, Art Heinisch, Cy Leivermann, Del Holan and Lynn Arnet are all freshmen and probable starters. The only two veterans who will show in the lineup will be Verne Rutledge and Kenny Marshall, guards.

The Dons' new Minnesota flash, Art Heinisch, will be making his debut in conference competition and considerable responsibility of Coach Blanchard Beatty's new offense will rest on his wide shoulders.

Last week Pomona dropped a bitterly contested 46-40 game to Riverside's powerhouse right on the heels of the "Hershey" scandal. Hershey is a former Bonita high school athlete who enrolled at Pomona jaysee early this month.

Played one game with Pomona and then "jumped" to Chaffey. Pomona demanded a conference investigation with the result that a committee yesterday recommended that Hershey either return to Pomona or forfeit this semester's eligibility. Nobody here knew whether Hershey would return to Pomona's lineup against Santa Ana but such procedure was doubted.

A fighter's training must have its advantages when such a pretty mix as this goes along for company. Accompanying the young woman along the promenade at San Juan, Puerto Rico, is Sixto Escobar, who seeks to regain the world bantamweight championship in a fourth meeting with Harry Jeffra of Baltimore in San Juan, Feb. 19.

failed in his attempt to capture Lou Amber's lightweight laurels. But now Escobar is taking Jeffra to his native land in an effort to regain the 118-pound crown. It is the first time that a world champion has taken his title deep into the tropics. It is the first time that a world champion has ever risked his title against a native of the tropics in his home-land.

But Jeffra last fall promised that in the event he won the title he would give Escobar a return match in San Juan within 90 days, and he is keeping that promise at the earliest opportunity.

Jeffra and Escobar collide for the fourth time—and over 15 rounds—at the Escambron baseball field, February 19. The battle ground is a huge playing lot, where Sixto a year ago defended the bauble against Lou Salica, from whom he took it in the first place.

Jack Dempsey was brought in to Puerto Rico is fight nuts, and the day has come when American fighters have to play plenty of attention to its rapidly growing army of warriors.

The richest sugar kings and queens, the lowly farmers of the hills, and sugar cane cutters of the flat lands come to see Escobar, the pride of the islands. Dreamy-eyed beauties of old Spanish blood, some of them descendants of Ponce de Leon, attended in gorgeous wraps and mantillas.

Puerto Ricans pride themselves in the production of sugar and matchless rum. Modernists have even present machette far back into the hills, but not far enough to prevent him from coming to see Escobar.

On every hand you see the great forts constructed by the early Spanish settlers, who built these fortifications to last until eternity.

The youth of the land is taught English in the good old taught schoolhouse manner, although the youngsters lean toward the Spanish tongue of their ancestors.

Police of San Juan form one of the finest body of men in the world. None stand under six feet.

One of the rich sugar czars became so enthusiastic over Escobar that he gave him a plot of land where, close to the town square of Barceloneta, they fashioned a home for Sixto's family. Sixto's father, a giant, but now a paralytic, was a famous sugar cane cutter. The Cincinnati Reds opened spring training at the Escambron baseball field two years ago.

At noon the natives, even to the giants of the police force have their siesta, which lasts until 2 in the afternoon. They simply close up shop, save for restaurants and drug stores, for this two-hour respite from the heat of the tropical sun.

San Juan is a place of dreams, but there'll be nothing sleepy about the fight Sixto Escobar will turn in against Harry Jeffra before the natives who love him so.

Clint Evans, say the gentlemen who hold the various coaching portfolios at the University of California, is a leftist, a radical, and a non-conformist.

They state, furthermore, that the Golden Bear baseball mentor has no regard for tradition or coaching etiquette, and as a result he should be set off apace and maybe even ostracized from his fellow men completely.

And why is Clint condemned thus? Merely because he refuses to break down and weep at the slightest provocation, as his conferees do.

Bear coaches usually are steeped in pessimism. Evans is the opposite.

He just can't conceal his emotions in regard to his prospects for this year. "Better than ever," he chortles, rubbing his hands. "We've won four state championships in the last five years, and we expect to win again."

Non-Union Coach Evans raves on and on, while Stub Allison, Nibs Prices, Brutus Hamilton, et al, sit agast in adjacent offices and listen to the impetuous outbursts.

They'll probably take the matter

Tonight—Santa Ana vs. Pomona at Tustin. Friday—Santa Ana vs. U.S.C. Fresh at San-Francisco. Los Angeles Saturday—Fullerton at Riverside; Citrus at San Bernardino.

With the "Hershey case" and a recent setback by Riverside still sticking in their craws, Joe Bonnet's Pomona jaysee Red Raiders strike for balm tonight against Coach Blanchard Beatty's Santa Ana jaysee Dons in Tustin high school's gymnasium.

It will be the Dons' fourth start in the Eastern conference, with game-time 8 o'clock.

Rated as a toss-up, the contest promises to be the best of the season. The Pomonans are a veteran team and are paced by Elwyn MacRae, one of the finest shots in the conference. Bob Reynolds, Jim McCullough, Bobby Booth and Basen are other veterans in the first string lineup.

The Dons, on the other hand, will have not more than one let-terms in their starting lineup. Charles (Chuck) Hall, Ted DeVelbiss, Art Heinisch, Cy Leivermann, Del Holan and Lynn Arnet are all freshmen and probable starters. The only two veterans who will show in the lineup will be Verne Rutledge and Kenny Marshall, guards.

The Dons' new Minnesota flash, Art Heinisch, will be making his debut in conference competition and considerable responsibility of Coach Blanchard Beatty's new offense will rest on his wide shoulders.

Last week Pomona dropped a bitterly contested 46-40 game to Riverside's powerhouse right on the heels of the "Hershey" scandal. Hershey is a former Bonita high school athlete who enrolled at Pomona jaysee early this month.

Played one game with Pomona and then "jumped" to Chaffey. Pomona demanded a conference investigation with the result that a committee yesterday recommended that Hershey either return to Pomona or forfeit this semester's eligibility. Nobody here knew whether Hershey would return to Pomona's lineup against Santa Ana but such procedure was doubted.

A fighter's training must have its advantages when such a pretty mix as this goes along for company. Accompanying the young woman along the promenade at San Juan, Puerto Rico, is Sixto Escobar, who seeks to regain the world bantamweight championship in a fourth meeting with Harry Jeffra of Baltimore in San Juan, Feb. 19.

failed in his attempt to capture Lou Amber's lightweight laurels. But now Escobar is taking Jeffra to his native land in an effort to regain the 118-pound crown. It is the first time that a world champion has taken his title deep into the tropics. It is the first time that a world champion has ever risked his title against a native of the tropics in his home-land.

But Jeffra last fall promised that in the event he won the title he would give Escobar a return match in San Juan within 90 days, and he is keeping that promise at the earliest opportunity.

Jeffra and Escobar collide for the fourth time—and over 15 rounds—at the Escambron baseball field, February 19. The battle ground is a huge playing lot, where Sixto a year ago defended the bauble against Lou Salica, from whom he took it in the first place.

Puerto Rico is fight nuts, and the day has come when American fighters have to play plenty of attention to its rapidly growing army of warriors.

The richest sugar kings and queens, the lowly farmers of the hills, and sugar cane cutters of the flat lands come to see Escobar, the pride of the islands. Dreamy-eyed beauties of old Spanish blood, some of them descendants of Ponce de Leon, attended in gorgeous wraps and mantillas.

Puerto Ricans pride themselves in the production of sugar and matchless rum. Modernists have even present machette far back into the hills, but not far enough to prevent him from coming to see Escobar.

On every hand you see the great forts constructed by the early Spanish settlers, who built these fortifications to last until eternity.

The youth of the land is taught English in the good old taught schoolhouse manner, although the youngsters lean toward the Spanish tongue of their ancestors.

Police of San Juan form one of the finest body of men in the world. None stand under six feet.

One of the rich sugar czars became so enthusiastic over Escobar that he gave him a plot of land where, close to the town square of Barceloneta, they fashioned a home for Sixto's family. Sixto's father, a giant, but now a paralytic, was a famous sugar cane cutter. The Cincinnati Reds opened spring training at the Escambron baseball field two years ago.

At noon the natives, even to the giants of the police force have their siesta, which lasts until 2 in the afternoon. They simply close up shop, save for restaurants and drug stores, for this two-hour respite from the heat of the tropical sun.

San Juan is a place of dreams, but there'll be nothing sleepy about the fight Sixto Escobar will turn in against Harry Jeffra before the natives who love him so.

Clint Evans, say the gentlemen who hold the various coaching portfolios at the University of California, is a leftist, a radical, and a non-conformist.

They state, furthermore, that the Golden Bear baseball mentor has no regard for tradition or coaching etiquette, and as a result he should be set off apace and maybe even ostracized from his fellow men completely.

And why is Clint condemned thus? Merely because he refuses to break down and weep at the slightest provocation, as his conferees do.

Bear coaches usually are steeped in pessimism. Evans is the opposite.

He just can't conceal his emotions in regard to his prospects for this year. "Better than ever," he chortles, rubbing his hands. "We've won four state championships in the last five years, and we expect to win again."

Non-Union Coach Evans raves on and on, while Stub Allison, Nibs Prices, Brutus Hamilton, et al, sit agast in adjacent offices and listen to the impetuous outbursts.

They'll probably take the matter

CHURCH TALKS DRAW THRONGS

The Rev. "Bud" Martin, youthful minister who is conducting revival services each evening at 7:30 in Spurgeon Memorial Methodist Church, South, is attracting large crowds to his services, according to the Rev. C. M. Aker, pastor of the church.

The Rev. Mr. Martin is the son of one of Methodism's pioneer missionaries in Louisiana who has labored among the French colonists of that state for many years and at present is in charge of missionary work among the inhabitants of islands in the Gulf of Mexico.

Sane Spiritual Appeal
The young evangelist is a college graduate, having studied at the University of Southern California.

The Rev. Mr. Aker, pastor of the Spurgeon Memorial church, said the appeal in Rev. "Bud" Martin's sermon lies in his sane spiritual messages.

Inviting the public to attend the meetings Reverend Mr. Aker said that they will continue at 7:30 p. m. every night except Saturday until February 20. Friday night has been designated as Young People's night. All preliminaries to the sermon will be conducted by young people of the high school and college groups.

Says Producer-Husband Was Cruel

The years have been kind to Justine Johnstone, pictured at left as she was in 1920—famous Ziegfeld beauty, idol of college boys and one of the most photographed show girls in the world—and shown above as she appears now, smart, well dressed, still lovely. But if the years are kind, her husband, Walter Wanger, film producer, with her in the upper photo, has not been, the former stage beauty charged in a divorce suit. After instituting the suit, based on cruelty allegations, Mrs. Wanger left for an extended tour of South America, leaving everything to her attorneys. The Justine Johnstone of the Follies became equally famous as a play actress. She fought a court battle when she was ousted from the cast of "Hush Money" in 1926 and in later years was hailed for her sponsorship of cancer research. Wanger, her husband for 18 years, is one of Hollywood's leading producers. Gossip has linked his name, lately, with that of blond Joan Bennett, recently divorced.

Buck Jones Heads State Bill Friday

Buck Jones heads the cast of the State theater variety program beginning tomorrow in "Boss of Lonely Valley."
"Terms of 1938," a three-act comedy; "I Never Change My Altitude," with Mr. Popeye; "Wild West Days," Chapter 5, and World News, also are offered.
"Boss of Lonely Valley," a first-run feature, emphasizes the fact that human nature is the same in any setting. It relates how a band of cow country forgers set out to get possession of all valuable properties in their vicinity by means of fake promissory notes, wills and IOUs. How Jones exterminates the forgers is the basis of an interesting plot.

Jimmie Fidler In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 10, '38 — Settling Around (Universal): "The cafe in this old studio—re-vamped a dozen times but still much the same as it was twenty years ago—conspires up an army of ghosts for every Hollywood old-timer. It was always a favorite meeting place for the stars of yesterday, and Universal had on its roster many names that will never die. I never eat here without seeing the wraiths of those colorful early days, Norman Kerry, swash-buckling from table to table, conscious of the admiring glances of every girl in the place. Lon Chaney and Jean Hersholt in a huddle over some makeup problem. . . . J. Warren Kerrigan and Ruth Roland talking about their next picture. . . . Francis Ford and Grace Cunard planning new stunts for their next serial. . . . Mary Philbin, Herbert Rawlinson, Frank Mayo, Priscilla Dean, Dorothy Dalton, King Baggott, Laura La Plante. And over in a corner, "Uncle Carl" Laemmle, pudgy, paternal and jovial, ready to listen to the troubles of anyone and everyone.

Some of those old-timers are still living, of course, but most of them are dead as far as their screen careers are concerned. Of them all, only one, Jean Hersholt, is still prominent in pictures. What memories that old cafe must bring back to him!

Many of the most important dramatic scenes in "The Crims of Doctor Hallett" are being photographed through a microscope. The story concerns the battle of a group of American doctors to discover and destroy the germs causing a fatal tropical fever—and for a few moments after I stepped on the set today, I thought that I had made a mistake and strayed into a scientific laboratory. The photo-micrograph is being supervised by technicians from a famous hospital and real tropical fever cultures are being photographed. And just there enters the typical Hollywood angle. Fever germs are scarce and delicate. The dyes which must be used to make them visible on the screen soon kill them. So stand-ins are being used—and the stand-ins are good, old-fashioned chicken pox germs.

On the "Goodbye, Broadway" set, I witnessed the discomfiture of Hollywood's most incurable practical joker. Alice Brady, Tommy Riggs, the ventriloquist who does that amusing "Tommy and Betty" skit on Rudy Vallee's radio program, is playing a feature role in the picture. Discovering that Alice knew nothing of Riggs' double-talking accomplishments, Director Ray McCarey promptly framed her. Every time she played a scene today, a voice, apparently coming from one of the score of electricians on the set, criticized her performance. Alice pretended that she didn't hear at first; then she began to burn. I have never seen the self-possessed Brady so chagrined as she was when McCarey finally broke down and revealed the gag.

The "Mad About Music" company, scheduled to work outdoors, on location, today was driven back to the sound stage by a torrential rain storm. And thereby hangs one of those ironic coincidences so typical in Hollywood. The scenes to be filmed on location were rain scenes. Six thousand dollars worth of rain-making equipment had been installed. And it could not be used because a real rainstorm made it impossible to light the outdoor sets. Director Norman Taurag showed me the call sheet for today's work—and there isn't a more jumbled line in "Alice of Wonderland." It read: "If raining, we work inside—if the sun is shining we work outside, in the rain!"

Taurag was directing Deanna Durbin in an unusually involved scene, which required take after take. After nearly an hour had been spent on it, Mrs. West, Deanna's tutor, stepped forward, spoke quietly to the director. Taurag shrugged and turned to Deanna. "That's all for today," he said. "We'll try to get the scene tomorrow." And Deanna trudged away to spend the rest of the afternoon over her school books. Under the California law, she must be in "school" a minimum of three hours each day. Mrs. West has the authority to stop production at any moment in behalf of Deanna's education.

In the studio cafe, the lanky negro comic "Sleep an' Eat", was bawling a bad day at the races. "Ah doan bet on them ponies no more," he moaned. "From now on, I puts mah dough on th' gallopin' dominos where it gets a chance. With th' bones, I's mah own jockey. Ah rides th' race—and I trusts me!"

A London business firm was established for the purpose of reminding clients of family birthdays, anniversaries, expiration of licenses, etc.

CITRUS RECEIPTS NEAR MILLION

$937,692.59 IS LISTED AT VILLA PARK CONCLAVE

Gross receipts to the Villa Park Orchards association for the year of 1937 totaled $937,692.59, according to a report given stockholders by the secretary and manager, H. D. Nichols, at an annual meeting held this morning at the packing plant.

The net total paid to the growers from the Valencia season pool was $758,801.01 which is an average of $1.63 per field box on all boxes delivered to the packing house, according to the report.

A total of 472,254 field boxes of varieties of oranges was received by the association during 1937, made up of 467,531 field boxes of valencias in the season pool, 2740 field boxes of Valencia off-blooms, 1859 field boxes of navel and 124 field boxes of sweets. The 467,531 field boxes in the Valencia season pool packed out 257,202 packed boxes," said Nichols.

Following the severe freeze of January and prior to the harvesting of our Valencia crop a fluoro-scope or x-ray machine was installed. This equipment together with a water separator enabled us to make a close segregation of the frost-free fruit. The fluoro-scope is frost-free fruit. The fluoro-scope is to a dentist's office, a valuable help in time of need. It is my opinion that our fluoro-scope saved many times its cost in this one crop.

"Refunds were paid out at the close of the year amounting to $86,056.68 and included in addition to the operating refunds the packing house and pre-cooling plant revolving funds for year 1933 and Fruit Growers Supply company revolving fund for 1930.

"Our crop now in prospect for 1938 appears to be the largest and finest we have ever had. However, with the big crops in California and Florida and other producing areas we shall need a careful operation of the pro-rate agreement if we are to realize anything near the return to which we are entitled. We will need both expert trade and careful handling of fruit which may go into canned juice.

"The low temperature of the early morning of January 22, 1937, caused more frost damage to fruit in our Villa Park district than any previous freeze year of record. And because there had been practically no frost injury in previous years we found only one grower having orchard heaters in our association."

Dinner was served at the packing plant. Willard Smith, president of the board presided.

Further discussion of plans for revision of the city fire ordinance connected with neighborhood business buildings will be the chief concern of the business session preceding the speaker of the day.

San Clemente To Be Realty Topic

The future of San Clemente and what it means to Orange county will be the subject of a talk by George Burzburger, Los Angeles realtor, at the weekly meeting of the Santa Ana Realty Board at noon tomorrow at the Rossmore cafe.

Further discussion of plans for revision of the city fire ordinance connected with neighborhood business buildings will be the chief concern of the business session preceding the speaker of the day.

Santa Ana Seniors Win College Honor

Two Pomona college seniors from Santa Ana, Miss Elizabeth Heil and Norman Watson, have been honored on the campus at Claremont, with election to Masquers', honorary campus drama group, it was revealed today.

Miss Heil, Santa Ana high school graduate, won the honor on basis of her work as chairman of properties for all college drama productions this year and last. She is majoring in economics at Pomona. Watson has been active in several all-college productions in acting roles after having studied a year at Pasadena Community playhouse, and in New York City. He has been active in Pomona college journalism.

'COWBOY' REGISTER CARRIER 'NEVER MINDS' RAINY WEATHER

Leland Wakefield, Register carrier, never "minds" when rains because he's the "cowboy carrier of Santa Ana."

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Monty Wakefield and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson, of 220 Goetz street, Delhi, Leland carries some of his Registers by horseback. It isn't because of the muddy streets in Delhi, he opines, that he carries newspapers by horseback, but merely because his horse, "Mamma," needs regular exercise.

"Mamma" Enjoys Trip

Leland raised "Mamma" from her earliest years. He also raised "Toughy," his colt pal. Both "Mamma" and "Toughy" are well-behaved and "Mamma" enjoys delivering Registers as much as anything else, except eating quantities of hay, Leland declares.

"I usually ride my bicycle in delivering papers," Leland said, "but 'Mamma' sure beats a bike on rainy days in Delhi. The mud is sticky, as well as plentiful."

Leland will open the Tenth Annual Military Ball sponsored the night of Feb. 21, by Jack Fisher Chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

Harry Pickard, general chairman in charge of arrangements for the annual ball, said today that the combined drum and bugle corps of the Santa Ana and Anaheim posts of the American Legion will start the evening with a series of intricate drills on the dance floor. The drum corps also will lead the dancers in the Grand March, one of the features of the evening's entertainment.

Guard of Honor

Additional color will be added to the affair by members of Company L, California National Guard, under command of Capt. R. P. Kellogg. This unit will provide a guard of honor for the patrons upon their arrival at the ballroom.

High ranking army and navy officers will attend the affair in dress uniform as will consuls from the various countries represented in Southern California.

Beauty, Power of Voice Acclaimed

On Wednesday night, February 16, Santa Ana is to have the pleasure of hearing one who has been acclaimed the owner of "A voice that ranks with the first of the world," when Musical Arts club sponsors the appearance in the high school auditorium, of Marian Anderson as the next event on the Behmer Wilson Artist Series. Her program will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

NOTED YOUNG AMERICAN NEGRO CONTRALTO TO APPEAR HERE

February, so rich in musical events for Santa Ana audiences, beginning the past week with the Bartlett-Robertson Piano Duo, will offer another of the Behmer-Wilson Artist series next Wednesday night. This will be none other than Marian Anderson, young American Negro contralto who has taken the world by storm, and who is singing in the high school auditorium.

Holders of season tickets for enthusiasm. Yet success has never turned her head, and critics are united in coupling with their unstinted praise for her voice, their comments upon her unspooled simplicity under adulation that might well have turned older and wiser heads.

Miss Anderson's own race aided her in her musical advancement, for opportunity for study was given her by a scholarship awarded by the National Association of Negro Musicians, when the qualities of her voice were first recognized.

Her European audiences have included every gradation of society, from the humblest to the highest, with king and commoner, artist and business man, united in praise for her.

ORANGE COUNTY DEFENSE WEEK PLANS FORMED

With the world seething with war and unrest, Orange County Reserve officers today predicted that National Defense week, Feb. 12-22, will be more generally observed locally than at any time heretofore.

"Rate of peaceful nations by predatory powers, contemptuous disregard of treaties and pacts, is awakening our people to the need of perfecting our own defenses," declared Col. H. C. Jackson, of Santa Ana, chairman of the Orange County Chapter defense week committee.

"No Royal Road"

"In these days of complicated machines, I think the average citizen is beginning to realize there is no royal road to adequate defense. It all takes vast amounts of money and years of time."

"This is a subject that the Reserve Officers are preparing to discuss before civic bodies and clubs. He has had more calls for speakers this year than ever before."

Campaign Planned

"The newspapers of the county also are planning on running a series of articles discussing various phases of national defense such as 'The Airplane, Its Possibilities and Limitations,' 'The Naval and Marine Situation,' 'Industrial Preparedness,' and others. The local broadcasting station also will be on the air the night of Feb. 14, 15, 16, 18 and 21 with discussion of some of these topics."

Any organization that desires a speaker on some phase of national defense according to Jackson, should contact Major R. E. Smith, president of the Orange County Reserve Officers chapter at the county Board of Health; Major Will L. Tubbs, at the Orange County Auto Club; Capt. Herman J. Zabel at the sheriff's office, or Lieutenant John V. Newman of Lemon Heights.

Visitor From Canada
Inspires Various
Hospitalities

Since Mrs. Lloyd Bannerman of Edmonton, Alberta, Can. arrived for a visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Crouse, 2333 Bush street, she has been fettered at charming affairs, the latest of which was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. F. W. Dean.

All decorative details were in pastel theme, repeating the tints of the many lovely garden flowers which brightened Mrs. Dean's home, 1103 Louise street for the occasion. Ice cream molds, each topped with a flower of different design and color, were served with cookies and hot buns. Flowers in crystal and brass vases centered the tables, which were spread with linens in springtime hues.

Assisting Mrs. Dean in setting was Mrs. L. C. Davidson. Games were played for the remainder of the afternoon, and table prizes were awarded winners. Receiving the delectable handkerchiefs for their high scores were Mrs. C. E. Hayes, winner in the game of pick-up sticks; and Mesdames Edward Opper, Ernest Ashland, Kenneth King and Floyd Hubbard, all scoring in bridge.

There was a special gift for Mrs. Bannerman.

Asked to share the affair with Mrs. Dean and her honor were Mesdames Russell Crouse, Harry Fink, Sam Fink, Edward Opper, George Lippincott, Leslie Pearson, Richard Martin, L. C. Davidson, Kenneth King, Ray Echols, E. U. Farmer, Earl Frevert, W. W. Sanford, Lloyd Arthur, John Vernon, Alvin Rohrs, Beulah Chase, C. E. Hayes, Floyd Hubbard, Ernest Ashland, William J. Hemmen.

Clusters of flowers centered the white-linen spread tables at which dessert was served to precede card play. Prizes went to Mrs. Sam Fink and Mrs. Edward Opper, who held the two high scores. Mrs. Kenneth King, who was consoled, also received traveling award.

The important feature of this session was election of officers with Mrs. P. G. Kilburn of Santa Ana chosen as president; Mrs. A. E. Muller, also of this city, vice president; and Mrs. Loren Faust of Anaheim, secretary-treasurer.

Auxiliary Has Meeting
In Anaheim Home

Women's Auxiliary to Santa Ana Typographical union enjoyed a meeting Tuesday night in the Anaheim home of Mrs. A. Kohler. The hostess served an inviting refreshment course at the close of a business session.

Instead of holding a party this month, members will attend a luncheon which Long Beach auxiliary will give February 21 at 12:30 p. m. in Houghton Park clubhouse of the beach city.

The next business meeting of the local group will be held March 8, at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. E. Kimmel, 1127 South Garney street.

Present were Mesdames J. W. Jones, E. Kimmel, C. E. Rousseau, O. K. Maxwell, Howard Paul, E. Taylor, E. W. Ellis, J. W. Parkinson, V. C. Shidler, Carl Fisher and Mrs. Kohler.

Mrs. Glines, ticket chairman, may be reached by telephoning 4768; Mrs. Conklin, 2357. Other committee workers include Mesdames Ralph Watson, James Merigold, John Lacy Taylor, Chester Horton and Kenneth Conner.

Maybe This Is Why
You're Constipated

Perhaps the kind of food you eat doesn't give you the bowels anything to work on. Meat, potatoes and bread don't form the kind of soft, bulky mass that will help move your bowels.

If so, a dish of crisp, crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast will give you just the kind of "bulk" your intestines may need to work properly.

And in addition, it contains the intestinal tonic, Vitamin B, which helps to tone them. If you want to get at the cause of your trouble, eat some Kellogg's All-Bran every day—as a cereal or baked in muffins.

And drink plenty of water. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

After-Concert Party
Is Compliment to
Guest Soloist

Many guests from those who so greatly enjoyed the Cecilian Singers' concert Tuesday night in Orange High school auditorium, later shared with members of the organization, an after-concert reception with which Miss Elizabeth Morgan and Mrs. Margaret Kenyon complimented the evenings' guest artist, Louis Silva, and his accompanist, Miss Marjorie Hemming.

It was in the home of Miss Morgan, 603 East Seventeenth street, that the party was enjoyed by some sixty or more guests. Because of the graceful formal gowns worn by Cecilian Singers, and the equally smart attire of feminine guests, the affair was invested in a charm of color and design fully augmented by the flower appointments of the home.

Sprays of peach blossoms, bowls of pink snapdragons and blue delphiniums were used while in the dining room where the tea table was arranged, an effective Valentine motif was uppermost. The table itself was like a lovely Valentine with its pale pink candles encircling a bowl of white hyacinths and sweet peas. Handsome silver tea and coffee services were arranged at either end, and were presided over by Mrs. Frankie King and Mrs. Pearl Davidson. Mrs. King wore cloth of gold, while Mrs. Davidson was in delicate blue chiffon.

Miss Morgan received her guests in a gown of royal blue satin with which she wore flowers in peach tones. Mrs. Kenyon wore camellias with her black lace gown.

After guests had enjoyed the open faced sandwiches and delicious little heart-shaped tarts served with tea and coffee, they had the pleasure of an impromptu musicale.

For the honor guest, Mr. Silva, graciously sang three solos the accompaniment of Halstead McCormac, director of Cecilian Singers. Numbered among the three were Manna Zibba's "I Love Life," Miss Laura Joiner added an amusing little comedy number on the theme of spinsterhood, playing her own accompaniment, and Miss Morgan sang two solos, "Clouds" by Ernest Charles, and "American Lullaby" by Gladys Rich, with Esther Gordon as her accompanist.

Included among guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mushrush with the guest of honor, Robert Barnes, were Messrs. and Mesdames Jack Rhodes, William Mohler, Dean McCormac, Charles Gish, Robert Arundell, Fred Dearford, the Misses Norma Jean Dearford, Mildred Eckwall, Betty Jo Williamson, Clara Wyckoff, Ruth Coe, Rachel Goods, Elmire Hitterdale, Georgia Williams, Wyoma Sieweke, Marjorie Griset, Vivian Griset, Madelyn Baughn, Marian Lindsay with Mrs. Alice Parham, and Messrs. Aubrey Hopkins, Philip Griset, Kenneth Maynard, Moss Belto, Johnnie Haskell, Walter Williams, Donald Maynard, Jack McAlary, Ray Hill and James Maynard.

Dinner Party Planned
To Surprise Host
On Natal Day

Arrival of guests with apparent intention to dine and spend an enjoyable evening in the J. Floyd Vale home, 1004 West Camille street, found Mr. Vale very much surprised indeed. But it was no surprise to Mrs. Vale, for she had planned the whole affair as a compliment to her husband on his birthday anniversary.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

SCHOOL WORKERS GET TIRED TOO

Children who go to school and do the work required of them are workers, and their work tires them. Most people think of school as a place where children sit, or play, or just stay. They forget that sitting still is against a child's nature; that listening is fatiguing work; that trying to do things for the first time, and that to a high standard, is exhausting labor. They do not seem to know that a school child is tired enough to need rest at the end of his day.

"Just as soon as you put your things away, Mary, I wish you would get at the dishes, and then tidy the dining-room. I've been so busy today. Now hurry along. Do. And stop in Helen's room and pick things up there. I did the bed, but I had to leave the rest for you."

"Goodness, mother. Give me a few minutes rest. As soon as I come into the house you have a hundred things for me to do. Why can't Helen pick up her own things?"

"Helen works at the office hard all day. When she comes home she is tired."

"And when I come home I'm rested up, I suppose? You think because I go to school I have nothing to do but enjoy myself. I have to work like a dog to keep up to my classes. I've got four hours of homework to do tonight yet. Helen will doll up and go to the movies with Pete. But she is tired. Poor Helen. She'll get up tomorrow morning and start for the office sometime before half-past eight. I'll be on my way with a good two hours work done before that. But Helen is tired. I'm just sick of being the family horse."

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself to talk like that to your mother, or to speak like that about your sister. All you do is go to school and help me a little with the housework."

"That's all I said I did and I said that I was tired. But you didn't hear that part."

Mary disappeared to cry it out in her room. She, and all the boys and girls of high school age are tired after a school day. Of course their mothers and fathers are tired, too, and the sisters and brothers who work come home tired. But why forget the school children? Why think of them as coming in fresh and gay to do all the odds and ends left over by the rest of the family?

In the household let each do his share. Arrange things so that each one leaves as little work for somebody else to do as need be. The out-workers can leave their rooms in order so that there will be no picking up. It doesn't take many minutes to hang up a pair of pajamas and a bathrobe, to put a towel in the hamper, set the dressing-table to rights. But it takes a lot of time and energy for someone to do those chores for five or six people at the end of a working day.

Give every homecoming school child fifteen minutes of quiet and rest. Light lunch. After he has refreshed himself and begun to chirk up a bit, he can do a few chores.

But consider him. Don't think him tireless because he can play ball, or dance the highland fling at recess time.

Mr. Patri has prepared a special booklet (No. 301) entitled, "Obedience," in which he tells parents how to cope with the difficult problems of disobedience. Send for it, enclosing ten cents. Sigma Thetas Complete Plans for Benefit Bridge Party

Plans for the benefit bridge party which they are starting Wednesday night, Feb. 22, were uppermost for Sigma Theta members when they met last night with Miss Dorothy Gowdy, 520 Kilson Drive.

Miss Ruth Baker, sorority vice president, had charge of the business meeting in the absence of the president, Miss Valerie Demetriou, and in the discussion, the benefit affair, open to all friends of the sorority, is to be staged in the clubrooms of the Weber bakery on North Main street.

Sweet peas in vivid reds, were used in profusion by Miss Gowdy in giving a valentine effect to her decorative appointments. She had arranged card tables for the informal bridge play which succeeded the business discussion. Later in the evening, these tables, spread with pretty linens, came into service for serving a cherry Bavarian cream with heart cookies and coffee.

Two pledges, the Misses Julianne Wolven and Virginia Hardin, and two guests, the Misses Arden Murray and Barbara Crawford, enjoyed Miss Gowdy's hospitality with Sigma Thetas Loretta Spangler, Ruth Baker, Dorothy Van Deusen, Roberta McKnight, Lois Murray, and Mesdames George Preble, William Jerome Jr., Joseph B. Irwin and Ray Cartwright.

Mixing Bowl

BY ANN MEREDITH

Wandering through the market one day this week, I saw a heap of scallops in a fish market and it brought to mind one of the most delicious dinners I was ever my joy to consume: fried scallops served with small portions of deviled crab, green peas (new ones) and potato balls in parsley butter.

Three scallops make the portion for a lady, four for a man. That gives you an idea how many to buy. Wash and dry them on a tea towel, then dip each scallop in egg in turn, and fry to a golden brown in bacon fat and butter. Fried crab is very nice when baked in the small sized scallop shells, but lacking shells, you can use buttered paper muffin cups, y'know.

For four people you would need a half pound of crab meat, fresh or canned. Flake it into a bowl and add a spoonful of finely chopped green pepper, a good pinch of dry mustard, a smaller one of cayenne, and some salt and pepper. Roll 4 crackers very fine and add to the crab, then mix with 2 eggs beaten light and strained in a half cup of thin cream or top milk. Spoon this mixture into shells or paper cups and bake in a medium oven just long enough to set the crab nicely (about 20 minutes). Serve lemon or tartar sauce with the scallops.

And now we come to today's star recipe, a way to use pork roast the third time so the family will really like it.

Pork Cake
2 cups of fat and lean bits of roast, chopped very fine or run through chopper
2 large potatoes, freshly boiled and mashed
1 large onion, ground and sautéed
Pinch of sage, some salt and pepper
Beat 3 eggs light and add milk to make a cupful
Rumors for top of dish if it is baked

After mixing onion, hot mashed potato and ground roast, stir in eggs and milk until the mixture resembles a thick batter, more milk may be needed. Spread the mixture an inch and a half deep in a baking dish, top with crumbs and brown in a fast oven. Or, if your family is smaller, bake it in the form of two omelettes, using a skillet, folding the cake in same manner.

Is there a little girl in your family who likes to cook? Let her start her culinary career with a batch of ginger snaps. I started my cooking career on ginger snaps, my father giving me a dollar for making them. In due time the dollar was spent, so I decided to make him another batch and collect another dollar. Unfortunately for me, my mother was not at home that afternoon, so the soda got lost in the shuffle, my courage oozed

SHARK SETS SWIM RECORD

SYDNEY (UP) Ship IV, a grey "nurse" shark at the Sydney aquarium, has made what is said to be a world record by completing four years in captivity. During this time, the shark is estimated to have covered 105,120 miles swimming round and round a distance equal to four times around the world.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—(UP)—Railroad shares led a recovery on the stock exchange today as reports that the Interstate Commerce Commission would grant a freight rate increase were widely expected.

Bonds also advanced, but major commodities eased. Business news was mixed. U. S. Steel corporation's January shipments of finished steel rose 6 per cent from December but were down 55 per cent from January, 1937. Engineering construction awards declined 23 per cent from the previous week but were 66 per cent over a year ago.

January sales declined 3.3 per cent from a year ago.

Stocks opened irregular in a narrow range in dull trading. Most of the session was marked by lethargy. U. S. Steel closed at 40 1/2, 50,000 shares, a net total of 50,000 shares, the corresponding price of the previous session.

VISIBLE PROGRESS

Many of the reforms and changes that are going on today are hard to measure, hard to see, or to put down in black and white. They concern intangible things.

But there is at least one gain being made that can be seen and measured. That is in tree planting, which is creating a national asset for the future that can be touched and felt.

From 1927 to 1934 inclusive, about 95,000 acres of national forest land were replanted with trees. Even that might have looked like quite an accomplishment in the days when Theodore Roosevelt was agitating for conservation.

But in the years 1935-37 inclusive, 502,000 acres were planted by the forest service of the department of agriculture alone. Most of this was in fire-blasted areas where natural seeding could not replace the lost trees.

Five hundred thousand acres of trees! There's a tangible asset which will show up on the right side of the balance sheet of the future!

COFFEE FOR MOLA

There's magnificence in the behavior of the Spanish people in Madrid, who go about their business under the tension of terrible bomb raids that come with the regular irregularity of spring storms.

One of sardonic Franco's little tricks of annoying the half-starved Madrid populace is to be broadcast daily from his Burgos and Seville stations the elaborate luncheon and dinner menus, fully and succulently described.

But Madrid recalls the boastful promises of Franco's General Mola to enter the city in November, then in December, and then at later dates, and returns the jest. In the darkened capital's square is a coffee table carefully set, the coffee poured. Neatly pinned to the cloth is a sign which reads: "For Mola."

To much of Madrid's people, to most of the people in Spain, the war there must seem as senseless as it does to the people of the United States. But despair hasn't won them and no people can be lost whose humor can survive what the Spanish are going through.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Closed by fire! At frequent intervals that happens to American factories and other places of business. Gutted buildings, empty windows, a litter of ashes and rubbish. These are all that remain of a once-busy enterprise.

In all probability, the actual physical loss is wholly or largely covered by insurance. But that doesn't mean the "fire bill" is paid. Far from it, for the indirect costs of fire are several times as great as the direct costs.

When a business establishment is gutted, it no longer pays its normal taxes. Its employees are out of work. Their purchasing power is brought to an abrupt stop. They are no longer able to pay rent and bills. Many of them may leave town to search for employment elsewhere. Others become burdens on the community, looking to charity or relief for support. Every merchant, every professional man, every citizen feels the adverse effects of empty pay envelopes.

Thus a large fire touches us all. Its consequences extend throughout the entire community. In time, the building may be replaced, new machinery installed, the men again given jobs. But in the meanwhile, the community has suffered an irrevocable loss in wages, taxes and business turnover.

Fire is your business and everybody's business. If you think that a blaze that destroys someone else's property doesn't hurt you, you were never more mistaken in your life. For all of us pay the bill for fire, and all of us reap the benefits when fire loss is reduced.

FAR-SEEING BOOSTERS

After glancing over the names of officers and directors of the Newport-Balboa Chamber of Commerce for the coming year, one ceases to wonder why that sea coast community is growing by leaps and bounds.

Figures released last week show that building permits aggregating nearly $75,000 in construction have been issued since the first of the year. The amount represents, for the most part, expenditures for new homes in Newport, Balboa, Balboa Island and Lido Isle.

Under the leadership of Walter S. Spicer, the Newport-Balboa Chamber of Commerce has been more than active during the past year. Now with the re-election of Mr. Spicer as president it is a foregone conclusion that the active program of the last 12 months will be continued.

Mr. Spicer has surrounded himself with committees headed by men who do things. Southern California rapidly is becoming conscious of what the Orange county coast line offers in the way of homesites, not only for the summer season, but for the year around. As a pleasure center nothing on the Pacific Coast offers more than Newport-Balboa. The best fishing along the coast is found off Newport. The pleasure harbor is equal, if not superior, to anything between San Francisco and San Diego. The climate is ideal.

Huntington Beach and Laguna Beach are matching Newport-Balboa in growth. In fact all towns along the coast in Orange county are experiencing an expansion that is almost phenomenal.

"FREEDOM OF INITIATIVE"

In a prize-winning magazine article for the best presentation of what is designated as "The American Way," the following statement was made:

"Freedom of initiative cannot safely be extended to any man or group of men who already wield more power than is safe for the liberties of their fellow-citizens."

Of course, the judges were the editors or owners of the magazine. If they believe that this is the principle that made America rich and prosperous, they certainly have an entirely different conception of what caused America to become a great nation from what the framers of the Constitution believed was necessary to make a great nation. We believe it was exactly the opposite; that no governing body should have a right to interfere in any way with the freedom of initiative of any man or group of men. How they can conceive that the voting majority, or the government, should have a right to curtail or stop or in any way check any man or any group of men adding to the wealth of the world certainly is a new idea of progress.

The author makes no distinction as to what initiative might be restricted.

It would seem that this, instead of being the American way, is the European or potentate way. It is the way of a dictatorship; that is, afraid some man may get too powerful and in order to prevent any man from getting too powerful or too popular, he restrains his initiative. It would seem that this should be the prize winner of the antithesis, or rather the antinomy of the American principles.

America was founded on using the aggregate initiative of everyone. It certainly was not conceived with the idea of leveling off to make things homogeneous. The plan was to permit people to become heterogeneous. Any system that levels off certainly is not true democracy, or the American way, even though it was awarded a prize by someone who happens to edit a national magazine.

COMPARATIVE FREIGHT RATES

A very interesting comparison of the cost of transporting one ton one mile on the railroad in 12 different countries has been compiled by the Wall Street Journal. It shows Japan has the lowest rate and France has the highest. The cost of transporting one ton one mile in Japan is .77 of one cent; in the United States .94; the highest on the list is France with 3.48 cents per ton mile. Great Britain has a cost of 2.73.

It is evident from these comparative figures that the cost of transporting freight in the United States in which the wages are higher than in any other country with the possible exception of Canada, is not based on mismanagement or a lot of artificial capital so often referred to. It is true of course that a few individual railroads have, in the past, had a lot of water in their capital structure but the freight rates would indicate that they are not permitting earning on this water. These figures are the charge and not the actual cost. In many cases, under the present circumstances, the United States rates are less than cost.

It is difficult for any country to have progress and compete with other countries when their freight rates are so abnormal as they are in France.

TWO CHIEF DUTIES OF GOVERNMENT

William Graham Sumner contends that "at bottom there are two chief things with which government has to deal. They are, the property of men and the honor of women. These it has to defend against crime. The capital which, as we have seen, is the condition of all welfare on earth, the fortification of existence, and the means of growth, is an object of cupidity. Some want to get it without paying the price of industry and economy. In ancient times they made use of force. They organized bands of robbers. They plundered laborers and merchants."

Now, we simply vote to take it from those who produce. For 25 years we have been doing this and the last quarter of this period, we have had one-fifth of the workers out of work, largely the result of this condition.

THE SAME TRICKERY

As Dorothy Thompson so aptly says: "The sophistry which has ruled the French working classes ever since the popular Front Government came in is precisely the one enunciated time and again by some of our New Deal spokesmen and labor leaders, namely, that you can increase purchasing power by raising wages and solve unemployment by shortening hours without, at the same time, increasing the per capita productivity of the workers either by technological improvement or by more efficient work. This theory has been sold to the French working classes by the demagogic politicians."

HOW WILL THEY BE EMPLOYED?

The proposed farm bill would certainly play havoc with labor in California.

According to the Associated Cotton Growers of California, the new law would reduce the state's cotton planting to practically one-third of what was under cultivation last year. This would throw 50,000 people in California out of work. Owners of this land would be forced to put this land in less productive crops and compete with other industry.

The attempt to have workers employed in other lines in which they are not trained, because of arbitrary laws, certainly is productive of great suffering and economic waste.

GOOD CONFESSION

It is encouraging to note the confession of Hugh Johnson in his column that he himself has suffered from the malady of planning.

We wonder whether he is beginning to see the impossibility of the NRA as to retaining liberty of the individual and at the same time giving the government the right to regulate the lives of its citizens. Johnson says those who plan now do so from a well of feeling and spring of hope that bubbled up. Plans that violate natural laws eventually are doomed to failure.

Prospects Of a Large Crop This Year

General Hugh S. JOHNSON Says

NEW YORK CITY—Senatorial opponents of the President's armament program all use the same line: "I am for adequate defense but I want a statement of American foreign policy."

The implication here is, "I think proposed armament is for aggression. It is not necessary for defense. I suspect that it is part of an understanding with England against Japan or the European dictators."

The Administration could declare: "Foreign policy is not to fight for anything that might happen anywhere in the world except in American waters. We will never accept support from Great Britain."

That would leave opponents saying that they think the proposed armament is not necessary for defense.

But suppose that, on this vital technical question these amateur military and naval authorities happened to be wrong. It doesn't cost them much to render such an opinion but it would cost the country much—no human mind can say how much—if they are wrong and the danger should descend.

The professional opinion of military and naval experts is always open to a question of excess enthusiasm and even personal interest. But, after all, there is nothing very mysterious about a national defense problem—nothing an intelligent layman with all the facts before him couldn't understand—at least well enough to make a general judgment.

Before Congressional committees, Admiral Leahy has made at least a superficial case for the program for defense alone. Yet no Senator has even attempted to refute him on a single fact or conclusion. If they think he is wrong, isn't it up to them to say why or where he is wrong?

The truth is that the whole question of defense is one of the amount of risk you want to run. You can have almost no defense at all—like China—and take a chance that, notwithstanding a strong probability of invasion, you can rely on the League of Nations to save you or, failing that, you can retire into the interior, get your forces ready and in two or three years, drive or starve or tie the enemy out.

Or, like England, you can keep a big navy, but let it slide while others, fully aware of your weakness, are furiously preparing and then when the crisis comes you find that you have to eat dirt, see your strength diluted, and finally at staggering costs rush to build your defenses up again.

Or, you can do as the President proposes and say to all the world: "We're ready to take the lead to cut armament to the bone. But if you want to go hog-wild and build beyond a point that threatens us, we can stand it better than you. We will outbuild you so that we won't have to outfight you."

That reduces risk to the minimum but it doesn't eliminate risk, as Admiral Leahy has clearly shown. The fact is that, in the sense that other countries are prepared for war, we are in some respects wholly unprepared. The President's program is a minimum necessity and, in the following respects, completely inadequate—naval bases, facilities for mass airplane production, aircraft defense, reserve ammunition, production of powder—explosives and propellants—and a reserve of strategic materials to mention only a few.

As for the demanded declaration of foreign policy it is: "Kick us at any place but home. We have wooden legs. Also, if you do attack us, we won't let anybody help us."

There is no understanding with England and if there were, we couldn't depend on it. We are not going to stick our necks out in any Asiatic or European war because our people wouldn't stand for it.

But just because we do happen to be helpless in some parts of the world is no reason for advertising it.

"It is for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out."—Spencer. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.

Fellow Citizens: "By their fruits, ye shall know them." This seems to be in my humble opinion, the best way to judge the effect of this "new education."

A contributor to the Clearing House, Mr. Charles E. Morris has gone off on quite a tangent to criticize the mother who wrote in and explained why she took her boy out of public school and placed him in a private school.

While I do not know whether or not Mr. Morris speaks with authority in his description of the "new system" of education, if he does speak authoritatively, then the mother who took her boy out of public school was more than amply justified.

Mr. Morris says that no one should want his child to become an imitator. There we have the come wrong for us to visualize our ideal and strive to emulate it? This new education is placing a heavy burden on tender shoulders.

Mr. Morris wants the child to be "allowed" to think, not taught to think. Any mother knows that program won't work. She is constantly guiding her child's thoughts as well as his actions, up to the time she turns him over to the school to be "allowed to think."

If any educator doubts that let them take ten American children and ten children from the Solomon Islands all about five years of age, and place them together in the same school and see which group responds first to the urge to learn more than they have already learned.

It seems to me that the lady who took her boy from public school has made quite a case against the new system of education. While the teachers were waiting around allowing the child to think and develop an interest, the mother guided his thinking, developed his interest and taught him to read.

Verily by their fruits ye shall know them.

PAUL C. PHILLIPS

Fellow Citizens:—

I wonder if I might add my bit to this great hullabaloo, that is being raised around the heads of our educators and school officials.

I have three children in our public schools, and I know a little of what, and how, they are being taught. Of course my children are just common ordinary children, not young geniuses, so I don't expect too much from the busy teachers. But I do want to say that I think my children are being taught as fast, and as much, as they are capable of learning and understanding.

I don't like to see children pressed and pushed ahead too fast, as I think it takes away a lot of freedom and joys of their childhood, which they only have once.

It seems to me that parents could understand that teachers haven't the time to devote to teaching their child, and leaving some other child out. They must go along with the class.

As for the new ways of teaching our children, methods of teaching change as well as ways of living, and I believe that the new methods are more satisfactory than the old. I personally am satisfied with the way my children are advancing.

I think we have as fine and capable a group of officials and teachers as it is possible to find anywhere, and when I see the fine young men and women they are sending out into the world, I thank God my children are privileged to attend such fine institutions of learning as our public schools.

Yours truly,
CLYDE TRUSTY,

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1935 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—Nothing is certain in Washington these days, not even uncertainty.

For a good instance, just as soon as the President definitely decided he would need no more relief money, he had to consider changing his mind. The inside story, as semi-officially told, is this:

At first, Mr. Roosevelt expected a sharply increased winter demand for WPA funds due to the business recession. But up to the end of January it had failed to materialize. He authorized the addition of $50,000 more people to the relief roll of 1,500,000, told his congressional leaders no new funds would be needed, and treasury secretary Morgenthau made a proud statement indicating the money on hand was sufficient.

Mr. Morgenthau's words hardly reached print before the WPA spenders began reporting to their congressional mouthpieces that a new flood of demand for WPA money was starting—and turned the whole situation around.

For months, the spenders in WPA and in congress had been weeping because they could not justify the increased spending they thought advisable. Their programs not only ran counter to the budget plans of the President but to the actual relief situation as then being reported by WPA.

But now the word has been passed by top WPA officials that the figures of the past two weeks may justify a new appropriation of $250,000,000 to last until June. The congressional spenders say WPA had better take $300,000,000 to be sure.

It is true John Lewis first raised the cry to increase WPA funds. Also that the incoming increased applications for WPA money are coming mainly from city districts where the CIO is mostly heavily organized. But the WPA's insist this is not exclusively a CIO raid by any means.

Thus has Mr. Roosevelt moved, in two weeks of uncertainty, to a definite conclusion and back to another uncertainty, confronted with alternative dilemmas of repudiating his budget or his relief promises.

That maverick block of congressmen which besieged the White House the other day gave out for publication everything except the main object of their visit. They used the White House front door as a sounding board for their ten point program to save the nation, but neglected to tell what really brought them out of their house lair.

It seems they found out that Chairman Mary Norton of the house labor committee was handling the wage and hour bill too well—from their standpoint. Mrs. Norton had let it be known generally in the house that her committee would take up the bill next week, but, owing to the crowded condition of the house calendar she would delay consideration of the measure in the house until after the appropriation bills are out of the way.

The mavericks thought this was too much consideration for the house. They feared lest their pet re-election bill be jockeyed into a session end situation where it could be conveniently lost, as it was last year.

Note—House southpaws are generally known in the house as the mavericks not only because Texas congressman Maury Maverick is the leader but because Webster's new international dictionary defines a maverick as "a motherless calf."

Mr. Roosevelt seems to have adopted a new polite finesse in handling congressmen this session. Those three house opponents of the punitive one-family corporation tax provision came off the White House carpet avowing they had just had a friendly chat. They said flatly no pressure had been used on them, and they indicated the President felt the same way as they did.

Incidentally the mavericks on the other side of the fence came away with a similar understanding that Mr. Roosevelt was for everything they wanted. However, they could not recall any distinct promise.

Note—No doubt now exists that the closely held corporation tax proposal will be sharply modified by congress, if it is not completely eliminated. Modifications discussed inside the committee include the possibility of allowing deductions for expansion actually under way or contracted for, and allowances for debts and impairment of capital structure.

Privately the mavericks wish they had never gone to the White House. For three sessions of congress they have been blocking a senate joint resolution prohibiting picketing of foreign embassies here. While they were at the White House, the resolution—which could have been blocked by a single objection—was adopted unanimously by the house.

WE, THE PEOPLE

By JAY FRANKLIN

SOLOMON AND LABOR'S BABIES

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The editor of "The Dallas Journal" asks me to give a President, on the case of the six employees of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transportation company who must lose their jobs unless they join the particular union which, under the National Labor Relations Act, has signed an exclusive contract with the company. The questions are: "(1) Have these six men a property right in the job? (2) If so, do they lose it because they want all the wages therefrom instead of checking-off to the union?"

On almost the same day, word comes to Washington that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen has furloughed a couple of hundred firemen on the Pennsylvania railroad in order to preserve high monthly earnings for the old-timers who control employment under the seniority provisions of the Brotherhood's closed-shop contract with the railroad. The furloughed firemen, out on the street, are petitioning for a spread-the-work attitude on the part of the officials of their own union.

The papers are also echoing with the thunders of the Mine Workers Union drive to expel William Green as a member of their organization, and with the Federation's struggle to protect its chief by a counter-attack on Labor's Non-Partisan league.

Since the conservatives have ever argued that two wrongs do not make a right, it seems only fair to answer that in these labor disputes two rights do not necessarily make a wrong. In the Brooklyn-Manhattan case, the answer to both questions is "yes." The right to work is one question, the right to collective bargaining is another. Since 51 per cent of the stock is enough to control any man's corporation, it is hard to see how a similar set-up in collective bargaining runs counter to the right to work. If the six employees desire to forfeit that right by refusing to go along with the majority that is as though I forfeited the right to own property by refusing to pay taxes or obey zoning regulations.

In the Brotherhood case, the answer seems to be an internal reform of the unions themselves. Ditto in the case of the struggle between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. It seems pretty obvious that the public interest demands democracy and equal opportunity inside the unions as well as outside. I can see no objection in principle to a national law providing that all labor unions affecting interstate commerce shall be required to hold periodic elections of all their officers and to open their membership, without discrimination, to all workers whose occupation makes them eligible. The matter of dues and check-offs then becomes a matter for the unions to settle themselves.

In fact, one of the weaknesses of the American labor movement—a weakness which has restricted union membership to about one-tenth of all the gainfully employed—is the self-perpetuating and autocratic leadership in our major industries which is a serious defect in our whole scheme of free competition between individuals and groups.

When you get a Federation of Labor which wrecks the Wages and Hours bill for fear it will strengthen the C. I. O., it is time for the government to step in and the attempted monopolization of opportunities to earn a living by physical labor.

The country is thoroughly tired of jurisdictional and similar squabbles between rival labor groups. The remedy, as I see it, is to democratize all the unions by public authority and to make union membership, control of union leadership, union policies and union dues, vested legal rights—and not privileges—for those who work.
